Conspiracy Against Prohibition Outlined At Rally

CAPITALISTS ACCUSED OF FIRST MOVE

Dr. Clarence True Wilson

Meeting in Santa Ana

EBBERT ALSO SPEAKS

Predicts Half States of Union Will Refuse to Ratify Repeal of Act

FIVE DISTINCT conspiracies in American life, to double-cross betrays and sell out prohibition "like five fingers in a clenched fist are trying to beat prohibition down," Dr. Clarence True Wilson, nationally known Methodist dry leader told a large audience at a county wide dry rally in the First M. E. church last night.

The first of these conspiracies is one started by wet millionaires, selfish rich, to make the poor man's throat pay the rich man's taxes, the speaker declared.

Dr. Wilson asserted that rich men, headed by Dupont, have spent millions of dollars in buying newspapers, newspapermen and authors to publish lying propaganda for the wets. John J. Raskob, in a national radio "blatant," the speaker said, declared men would gladly pay a four-cent tax on 10-cent glasses of beer.

"Wet newspapers united in the second of the conspiracies," he declared, "to obtain advertisements for beer. They published lies about the nourishing value of beer for infants, children and women. They always lied about their poison and now they want it back."

A bi-partisan conspiracy to get prohibition was the third one. At the last presidential election no dry voter could have cast his vote effectively for a dry man for president. This was the greatest outrage ever foisted on the people and it needs a rebuke by enactment of the eighteenth amendment.

Beer Conspiracy
"Conspiracy of the liquor and brewery interests formed the fourth conspiracy to hammer down prohibition. They conspired to get beer and then planned to pour hard liquor down the throats of Americans by fooling them. They conspired to make beer but two percent at first so it would not be intoxicating and would not harm the program to nullify the eighteenth amendment."

PLAN PROBE INTO FATAL PLANE CRASH

BIG BEAR LAKE, Cal., June 20.—(UP)—Department of commerce investigators studied the wreckage of a single-engine plane today seeking responsibility for the crash in which Harry Sweet, Hollywood motion picture director, and two companions were carried to death in Big Bear Lake Sunday night.

The bodies of Sweet, 32, Claudette Ford, 20, film extra, and Howard (Hal) Davitt, 30, scenario writer, were recovered when the plane was lifted from 28 feet of water, hours after it collapsed while flying at a low altitude. A coroner's investigation disclosed Davitt and Miss Ford suffered fractured skulls while Sweet apparently drowned. All three bodies were wedged in the front cockpit.

NOTED WOMAN LABOR LEADER PASSES AWAY

Rose Pastor Stokes Called By Death in Germany After Long Illness

FRANKFORT, Germany, June 20.—(UP)—Rose Pastor Stokes, known throughout the world as "The Rose of the Ghetto" and one of the most celebrated of American labor leaders, died today after a long illness. She had been unconscious for more than 12 hours.

Mrs. Stokes told her nurse just before she lost consciousness that she knew death was near. Saturday she asked the head nurse to play compositions of Franz Schubert on the piano in her private room. Later she wrote letters to a few of her friends in the United States.

She underwent treatment earlier in the year at the hospital Haus Baden under Professor Hoffelder who also treated her in 1931. Hoffelder had her removed to the municipal hospital April 15 where she was suffering from cancer.

Mrs. Stokes was understood to have bequeathed the copyrights on her books to friends in the United States who paid her hospital expenses.

Rose Pastor Stokes was born in Russia, spent her girlhood in the London slums, married a millionaire, and devoted herself to social service, the labor movement, socialism, and, in her latter years, to Communism.

Mrs. Stokes came to America as a cigar worker. A member of an underpaid class of workers, she was acutely conscious of social inequities.

Unity To Be U. S. Policy At Conclave

Delegates to London Meet Hereafter to Follow Unified Program

LONDON, June 20.—(UP)—The United States delegation to the World Economic conference agreed in a meeting today to follow a unified and common program.

Aware of criticism in the London press and among conference delegates, Senator James Couzens told his fellow delegates that it was necessary to avoid in the future any splitting on American policy, the United Press was told. Couzens declared America had to decide whether it was pursuing a nationalist or an internationalist economic policy.

The informant predicted a new unity in the delegation following what appeared to be several about faces in policy during the last four days.

The delegation, it was understood, also held a private discussion on stabilization of currency. The general impression prevailed that there was little chance for default stabilization, it was said, but the delegation agreed to work for permanent stabilization.

Meanwhile, before the monetary commission the proposals of Senator Key-Pittman, delegation member, for increased use of silver and decreased gold coverage, met some measure of support. Chief interest, however, was in the declaration of James Warburg, United States expert, that the United States was unwilling to return to the gold standard until it was sure it would work.

At the monetary sub-committee on permanent measures, Leon Fraser, American president of the World Bank, ridiculed the accepted idea of the maldistribution of gold.

"It is not a question of where the gold is but what is done with it," he said. "It should be used by those who have it for the general good."

RESIGNS AS MAYOR AS CITY GOES WET

MODESTO, Cal., June 20.—(UP)—Modesto today was without a mayor following refusal of former mayor Sol P. Elias to accept the city council's appointment to the post.

Elias, mayor of Modesto for nine years prior to 1930, gave ill health as his reason for declining.

Elias was selected by the council after Mayor L. L. Dennett, dry leader, resigned because he disapproved of "the efforts of some persons to make Modesto a wide open town." Dennett strenuously opposed repeal of the local dry and anti-gambling ordinances, both of which were voted by the council.

LAMSON HELD OVER ON MURDER CHARGE

SAN JOSE, Calif., June 20.—(UP)—David Lamson, manager of the Stanford University Press, today awaited trial in superior court in August on a charge of murdering his attractive wife.

Justice of the Peace Grandin H. Miller ordered Lamson held at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing here late yesterday, after three days of testimony by the state. Although the defense summoned 24 witnesses, none was called to testify.

MILK INDUSTRY HARD HIT BY ALCOHOLIC BEER SALE

CONCRETE evidence that the sale of beer is adversely affecting the milk producers and dairy industry was given during the address of Dr. Clarence True Wilson, of Washington, D. C., at the First M. E. church here last night.

Dr. Wilson related an experience he had on a train in which the operator of a large restaurant in the East told him that since beer was being sold he had been forced to cut his milk orders in half.

The story told by Dr. Wilson follows: "I am from Delaware, and while on a train I saw a man I knew to be a Delaware farmer. I sat beside him and asked him how the prohibition situation was in Delaware. 'The farmer expressed indifference in the prohibition situation in his state. Later, on the same train, I became engaged in conversation with the owner of a large restaurant in the same area. During the conversation this restaurant owner said: 'Since we sell beer our milk soured. We found it necessary to cut our milk orders in two.' 'Will you tell that to a friend of mine?' I asked him, and he consented. So I sat the restaurant owner beside the farmer and he told him what he had told me. 'My—!' the farmer exclaimed. 'The milk I produce is the only thing I have left to make a living on. And now they're going to cut that in half!'"

HEAT WAVE IN THREE STATES MIDDLE WEST BRINGS DEATH ON DRY REPEAL

TEMPERATURES SHOOT ABOVE 100 MARK; CANADA ALSO IS SWELTERING

CHICAGO, June 20.—(UP)—The end of spring found the middle west sweltering today in its second heat wave of the year. With dry, hot winds blowing in from the parched southwest, temperatures soared to the 100 degree mark in areas extending northward into Canada.

Prostrations were not so numerous as in the first heat wave of two weeks ago, but more than a score of drownings were reported as thousands of city residents went to lakes and beaches for relief.

The only persons who found a note of cheer in the torrid spell were grain brokers in wheat pits here. On reports that wheat fields were burning up, grain prices jumped nearly three cents yesterday. Further rises were predicted for today as the weather bureau failed to see signs of immediate relief.

A rare occurrence in Canada, the mercury soared to as high as 105 degrees. In most midwestern states it was in the upper 90's. Two heat deaths were reported in Canada and one man was killed when a heat-induced whirlwind collapsed a bridge.

A United Press survey showed drownings as follows: Indiana, 6; Canada, 4; Wisconsin, 3; Iowa, 2; Minnesota, 2; Michigan, 1, and Illinois, 1.

CONTRACT LET FOR CEMENT FOR DAM

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(UP)—Secretary of Interior Ickes today announced the government finally had contracted to buy 400,000 barrels of cement for use at Boulder dam for $550,000.

The contract was let jointly to the California Portland Cement Co., Monmouth Portland Cement Co., Southwestern Portland Cement Co., and the Riverside Portland Cement Co.

SPANISH AVIATORS LEAVE FOR MEXICO

HAVANA, June 20.—(UP)—Capt. Mariano Barberan and Lieutenant Joaquin Collar, Spanish fliers who flew non-stop from Seville, Spain, to Havana, took off today on a 1900-mile non-stop flight to Mexico City.

G. E. WILL RAISE WAGES
SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 20.—(UP)—A five per cent wage increase for all 50,000 employees of the General Electric Co., effective July 1, has been ordered it was revealed today.

Since the advent of the economic depression, workers had been given one 10 per cent reduction, although their earning capacity was further lessened by shorter work weeks.

Government Places Ban On Fascists

Dissolution of Nazi Party is Ordered; Break With Germany Forecast

VIENNA, June 20.—(UP)—Martial law was in force in parts of Austria today as the government moved to eradicate the Austrian Nazi party.

The Nazis were ordered dissolved after a series of bombings and terroristic outrages. The cabinet was convinced the Nazis sought to overthrow the government. Police, augmented by the military, began an immediate round-up of Nazi leaders.

Foreign observers feared the dissolution order would lead to a complete break in German-Austrian relations, strained since the cabinet began suppressive action against the Austrian Nazis 10 days ago.

At Krems, detachments of police and soldiers sought terroristic bombers, believed to be Nazis under orders to "shoot to kill" anyone who attempted to flee arrest or who challenged them. The bombers threw three hand grenades into a marching detachment of the Heimwehr, yesterday, wounding 30.

Krems and the neighboring towns of Steyr and Maunern were under martial law. Public assembly was forbidden and citizens were required to be off the streets at 8 p. m.

In proclaiming dissolution, the government made a faint effort to avoid an out and out break with Nazi Germany. Minister of Justice Kurt Schuschnigg announced that the order was not anti-German because the German Nazis only recently said they would make no affiliations with Nazi organizations abroad that were not made up of German citizens.

He appealed to the populace to recognize that the government had to use "force to meet terror."

GRASSHOPPERS AT YUMA NOT MOVING

YUMA, Ariz., June 20.—(UP)—There is no apparent danger to the fertile areas of the Yuma and Gila valleys from a dense swarm of grasshoppers 30 miles east of here, J. L. E. Lauderdale, district entomologist, said today.

He described the insects as the blue wing variety which chiefly inhabits the desert regions. The swarm was found last week in the Muggins mountain near Dome.

A daily watch is kept on the grasshoppers, Lauderdale said, but the swarm, about two miles by seven miles in extent, has not moved materially towards the valleys during the past four days.

CHICAGO HOTEL MAN IS KILLED BY GANGSTERS

Mob Traps Victim in Luxurious Inn; Escape After Assassination

TWIN LAKES, Wis., June 20.—(UP)—A gang assassination recalling "spot" murders of racketeers in their heyday confronted authorities here today in the slaying of Henry Robinson, former associate of Terry Druggan, Chicago beer baron.

The gang, armed with automatic revolvers, operated with systematic swiftness as it trapped Robinson in his luxurious Edgewater hotel.

A few minutes after he returned from a swim with his blonde 22-year-old wife of five months, Striding up to the bar, the men demanded four beers. They whipped out revolvers as Leo McPhaul, 32, of Kenosha, the bartender, turned to serve them. McPhaul was ordered out on the terrace veranda, where Max Levin, 37, Robinson's partner, and several others were seated.

One man stood guard over the group and the others re-entered the hotel.

The three met Robinson at the top of the stairway and opened fire. The lone guard backed away, meeting the other three as they ran from the hotel. All leaped into a car and sped away.

Robinson formerly operated the Dearborn Plaza hotel in Chicago. His wife said she knew of no enemies and became acquainted with him only a few days before they were married.

Robinson came here June 4 to take charge of the exclusive lake hotel.

Robinson formerly was a criminal court bailiff in Chicago and once was arrested in Los Angeles as a suspect in the murder of Jake Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter.

REPRIEVE GRANTED JAPANESE SLAYER

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—(UP)—The plea of a Japanese Episcopal minister coupled with the recommendation of a superior judge today renewed hope for Ziro Kawamoto, sentenced to be hanged at San Quentin prison Friday.

Governor Ralph granted Kawamoto a reprieve until July 7—this to permit Judge Frank Lamberon Visalia, and District Attorney Walter Haight to submit their reasons for recommending the sentence be commuted from hanging to life imprisonment.

The Rev. Joseph K. Tsukamoto, San Francisco, personally pleaded for executive clemency.

Wawamoto was convicted of murdering Mrs. Tomo Hukai near Dinuba August 7, 1931, and sentenced to hang. He has already been granted one reprieve.

PRINCIPLES MADE PUBLIC BY JOHNSON

Roosevelt Will Urge Rail Chiefs Not to Reduce Salaries of Employees

P. O. RECEIPTS JUMP

Administration Aiming at Basic Code for Every Industry in Country

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(UP)—Basic principles of the national recovery program, stressing the necessity for agreements on minimum pay, maximum hours of labor and elimination of cut-throat methods of competition were outlined today by Administrator Hugh S. Johnson.

Johnson invited the immediate submission of simple basic "codes of fair competition" by the 10 largest industries—iron and steel, automotive, coal, textiles, oil, food, lumber, leather, machinery, drugs and chemicals.

One of these industries, cotton textiles, already has proposed a code under which wages would be increased, hours of labor shortened, and new jobs created. Hearings on this proposed code will begin here June 27.

The drive for recovery proceeded on a wide front. In numerous government departments—officials were moving in the letting of contracts and in other ways contributing toward the stimulation of business and employment.

Among these developments were the following:

1. An unofficial attempt on behalf of President Roosevelt to dissuade railroad executives from making another general wage cut.
2. Announcement by the Tennessee valley authority that labor for its great undertaking would be hired from the valley itself as far as possible.
3. Secretary of Interior Ickes contracted to buy 400,000 barrels of cement for Boulder dam.
4. Treasury officials revealed that proceeds from sale of new securities totaling more than a billion dollars were now on hand in the treasury to finance public works.
5. Postmaster General Farley reported a marked rise in postal receipts.
6. Chairman Stevenson of the Home Owners Loan corporation

NEW HINDU MURDER MYSTIFIES POLICE

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—(UP)—Another mysterious Hindu murder confronted authorities today after the bullet-ridden body of Durban Singh, prominent in the Hindu colony here, was found on River Island in the Sacramento river near Rio Vista.

Police sought Lachman Singh, a companion of Durban, after the slain man's widow told them he could furnish information regarding the shooting. Lachman reportedly made his way to the mainland and fled in an automobile. The two men were not related.

Singh's death brought to 29 the number of Hindus slain in California in recent years.

FORMER LEADER OF LEGION IS CALLED

SHREVEPORT, La., June 30.—(UP)—O. L. Bodenhamer, El Dorado, Ark., former national commander of the American Legion, died in a hospital here last night from burns received in a gas explosion.

The accident occurred near Henderson, Tex., while Bodenhamer was inspecting an oil lease. Accumulated gas was ignited when he struck a match to light a cigaret.

Bodenhamer was brought here after emergency treatment at Henderson. His wife accompanied him here and was at his bedside when he died.

FIGURES SHOW BEER EFFECT ON CITRUS SALES

Disastrous effect of the sale of beer on the orange industry was shown today in a public statement made by Arthur J. McFadden, well known orange grower and Orange county agriculturist.

Long identified in the agricultural life of Orange county, McFadden is a trustee of Pomona College, a director in the Commercial National bank, president of the Irvine Walnut association, president of the California Persephone Growers' association, president of Irvine Valencia Growers association, a director in the California Fruit Growers Exchange, a director in the Orange County Fruit Exchange and a director of the Federal Regional Agricultural Credit corporation.

In his statement, McFadden pointed out that upon no other industry, outside of oil, does the prosperity and progress of Orange county and Southern California rest like it does on the citrus business.

Quits Oranges

"An orange jobber in the East, who had been handling oranges, recently ordered 110 carloads of beer and said he was 'discontinuing selling oranges because they were unprofitable when compared to beer,'" he declared.

"The sales representative of one fruit concern, writing from the East in May, said: 'There has been a definite reduction in the sale of orange juice in fountains and stands, due to the sale of beer.'"

"Since 1921 there have grown up 105,000 drink stands. These drink stands sell the juice of 15,000 carloads of oranges yearly. The sale of beer has been so far felt that it is expected that these fruit stands will reduce their demand for oranges by more than one-half, to not over 7000 cars rather than 15,000.

"In a large Eastern city, a chain group of fountains announces that since the sale of beer from their fountains, the sale of orange juice has decreased 40 per cent.

Warns Voters

"Most of the liquor men are perfectly willing to have the tax attached to liquor, so that they can couple its sales with government necessity and patriotic motives."

"Do you want the liquor industry as a permanent competitor with the orange business?"

"If you would protect the livelihood of 500,000 people, if you would continue orange raising as a $100,000,000 business, vote against repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

"Think before you vote, Mr. Orange Raiser, Investor, Home Owner and Worker."

"Do not give your dollars to the brewer on June 27."

CONSPIRACIES ARE OUTLINED AT DRY RALLY

"The fifth conspiracy was led by a foreign power in Rome who sent word here by bishops and cardinals that prohibition must go. A Jesuit paper said if prohibition could be abolished the leadership of protestant clergy would be destroyed. I have every respect and love for a loyal Roman Catholic but that foreign power should keep its hands off of American problems and let us settle our own problems."

Prohibition Success

Dr. Wilson said that neither man nor God knows how to eliminate an evil except by prohibiting it, declaring that the Ten Commandments are prohibitory. Prohibition, he asserted, instead of being a failure has been a marvelous success. He pointed out that prohibition has never had a fair chance because wet governmental officials had appointed wet men to enforce the law. He charged Andrew Mellon and others with betraying their trust and putting prohibition in the hands of crooks.

The speaker declared that return of beer was already proving greatly detrimental to the milk and citrus industries.

"Prohibition is a million times better than the license system at its best," he asserted. "Prohibition was double-crossed and betrayed. Under it we had the most prosperous years of our history. International bankers saw the people rolling in money so they conspired to get their money. Mellon and others permitted investments from foreign countries to be sold here to the tune of nine billion dollars which went across the waters and which will never come back.

Greatest Steal

"This was the greatest steal in the history of the world and if we had not had the rottenest administration ever the men who sold the investments here would have been put in prison. As it happened, they went untouched and unquestioned and prohibition was made the scapegoat. They blamed the depression on prohibition and it worked. And now they tell people they can drink themselves into prosperity on beer."

"We are opposed to repeal because while temptations must needs come, the government ought not to go into partnership with the devil in organizing temptation for mankind, for womankind and for childhood. Men may get liquor under prohibition if they hunt it; but under repeal, liquor will hunt men on every street corner, highway and cross road. It is the province of government to make it easy for men to do right and difficult for them to do wrong. Gladstone said. The purpose of law is to permit what is right and to prohibit what is wrong. Blackstone declared.

Repeal Will Fail

Col. Frank Ebbert, counsel for the Methodist board, spoke briefly, following Dr. Wilson. He predicted that half of the 48 states would fail to ratify repeal of the eighteenth amendment. He advocated a strong educational campaign to clear "the confused mind of America on the issue."

He declared that it was his sincere judgment that the beer bill is unconstitutional and that the supreme court will uphold that point when a test case is presented.

Colonel Ebbert pointed out that four dry states have refused to call an election on ratification and that although 11 wet states have ratified repeal, the drys need only 13 states to keep prohibition and the dry percentage of states now is greater than the wets.

Police News

A complaint was sworn out this morning in police court by Alcario Castaneda against Lucia Cordova, Delhi Mexican, on charges of disturbing the peace. She charged Cordova with accosting her on the street and making improper advances.

Mike Del Villar, 18, 1010 Logan street, was put in the county jail today by Santa Ana police officers on suspicion of grand theft.

ATTEMPT TO LINK GUN FOUND BY ROAD WITH KOESEL DEATH

Expecting definite word today from ballistic experts in Los Angeles as to whether a gun found in Brea canyon by a weed cutter was the same weapon used in the killing of Mayor Fred Koeseel of Anaheim last November, sheriff's officers are busy piecing together sudden developments which came to light yesterday.

The discovery of the .32-caliber revolver near the spot where Koeseel was shot was announced late yesterday afternoon when Captain Higgins of the San Dimas substation of the Los Angeles sheriff's office telephoned officers here. L. H. Nicholson, deputy sheriff who is assisting Higgins on the case, took the gun to Los Angeles to see if the bullet found in Koeseel's body corresponded to those fired from the gun.

A laborer cutting weeds along a road in Otterbein canyon, about 500 yards from the Brea canyon road, found the gun June 12 but did not know of the Koeseel incident. He threw away the one empty shell and kept the gun and the four cartridges.

ROOSEVELT RETURNS TO HELM OF YACHT

WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, AT SEA, OFF HARWICH-PORT, Mass., June 20.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's trim schooner-yacht Amberjack II, tossed in the heaving swells off Cape Cod today, bound from Nantucket for Provincetown, Mass.

Mr. Roosevelt put out from Nantucket, where he had sought shelter overnight at 5 a.m. (EST) with a north wind retarding his ship's progress.

It was not until Cape Cod was sighted that he shut down the auxiliary engine of the Amberjack and ordered full sail hoisted.

Numerous ships passed the little schooner as she turned her bow northward. All dipped their colors in salutes which were answered by the destroyer Ellis.

BAD WEATHER HALTS SEARCH FOR FLIER

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, June 20.—(UP)—Search for James Matern, round the world flier lost in the Arctic, was reported halted temporarily today by adverse weather conditions.

According to radio advices, several ships participating in the search, including the S. S. Victoria, were locked in the heavy fog in St. Michael bay.

The Aleutian Islands were blanketed by fog, grounding airplanes. Kenneth Reese, veteran pilot of the north, was reported fog-bound at Unalakleet.

No trace of Matern had been found since he left Khabarovsk, Siberia, last Wednesday on an attempted 2400-mile flight to Nome.

AMERICAN HEIRESS BECOMES PRINCESS

PARIS, June 20.—(UP)—Barbara Hutton, heiress to millions of the Woolworth "five-and-ten" fortune, became the Princess Mdjviani in a simple civil ceremony today at the sixteenth district town hall of Paris.

She and Prince Alexis Mdjviani, of the Georgian republic, will be married again on Thursday, however, in a splendid religious ceremony at the Russian cathedral, where some of the glitter that appertains to the bride's great wealth will be in evidence.

The only display of wealth so far has been the wedding presents, including diamonds, jade, silver and gold, closely guarded by detectives.

REGULATION OF STOCK MARKET HELD REMEDY

Constriction and destruction of credits following an orgy of stock market speculation was the principal factor responsible for the collapse of the American business structure, according to William Neblett, law partner of William Gibbs McCafoe.

Neblett spoke here last night at the Frances Willard auditorium at a mass meeting sponsored by the Jeffersonian club.

Elimination of holding companies and the curbing of stock trading so that credit could be returned to business where it belongs is the nation's only hope for salvation, Neblett said.

In the years just preceding the collapse of the business structure in 1929, he said, the number of people in the nation who made their living through the expansion of credit on the stock exchange, as market "chislers," or small traders, was approximately the same as the number of today's unemployed.

President Roosevelt has done his best to eliminate this evil and succeeded in part, according to Neblett, when he secured passage of the Glass-Steagall bill eliminating affiliates from the banking business. Affiliates in banking, he explained are similar to the holding company.

Explains Affiliates

The affiliate was a corporation formed to take bad loans off the hands of the banks and in all cases directors of the bank and its affiliate were interlocking. To show a profit the affiliate borrowed money from the bank for the purchase of bond issues, sometimes of doubtful value, for the purpose of selling them back to the depositors of the bank.

These affiliates, he said, have placed so many securities in the United States that today, their listed value on the various stock exchanges exceeds the national wealth two or three times. Many of the corporations, he declared have issued more than one share of stock for every man, woman and child in the nation. If the national credit had not been stretched until it broke everyone in the nation would be rich, he declared, as it is so easy to gain riches through manipulation of the market.

The Securities bill, Neblett said, will help solve the national problem but it does not go far enough. The Industries bill will furnish temporary employment and relief but neither this nor inflated currency will effect a permanent solution until the stock market is curbed.

California Opportunity

Neblett suggested that California can take the first step, as congress had the opportunity and failed, toward abolishing holding companies. To do that the state legislature must enact a measure prohibiting a corporation from owning stock in another corporation. This, he declared, can be accomplished through election of a Democratic governor and legislature pledged to such a program.

Deputy District Attorney James L. Davis, one of the county's leading Democrats, was the first speaker and in a brief address traced the accomplishments of President Roosevelt during his three and one-half months as the nation's chief executive.

Roosevelt was elected, not by the Democrats but by Republicans and Democrats. He captured the imagination of the American people and, in the three and one-half months he has been in office, has restored their faith in the representative form of government.

Davis traced Roosevelt's action in eliminating the extravagances of past administrations, stabilizing the banking situation, relief for unemployment and rehabilitation industry. His program has barely started, the speaker said. Partisan politics, he declared, should be forgotten and the nation should follow the new leader as the best is yet to come. In closing he quoted Roosevelt in his inaugural address when he said: "This great nation of ours will endure as it has endured. It will revive and prosper."

HALF CENTURY MARK OBSERVED BY S. A. CHURCH

Climaxing two days spent in celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the Episcopal Church of the Messiah, an anniversary dinner was staged in the church last night.

Commemorating a half century of services, an elaborate program was staged at the church last night with Bishop Bertrand Stevens, of Los Angeles, and others as honored guests.

During the evening it was recalled that the first Episcopal service held in Santa Ana Valley was in the spring of 1874 in the Enterprise hall, Anaheim. Santa Anans, it was recalled, held the first service in a building known as Dibble hall, in June, 1883, moving eventually to the church now at Seventh and Bush streets.

The parish hall was crowded last night for the celebration. Many extended congratulations to the Santa Ana church on the occasion, including Supervisor W. C. Jerome. A musical program was presented arranged by Halstead McCormack, which included a cello solo by Anna May Archer, vocal solos by Mildred Hybarger, a reading by June Arnold, trumpet solos by Harold Lutes and numbers by the junior college quartet, comprising Clark Brown, William Fox, Marquise Hare and Ruthford Williams.

The members of the Woman's Auxiliary were responsible for all arrangements for the dinner.

THREATENED RIOT AVERTED AT NOON

Threats of a riot among Mexican chili pickers on the S. Murra ranch near Stanton were averted at noon today when Sheriff Logan Jackson and five deputies answered an emergency call to the ranch.

Ten Mexicans under a leader came from Los Angeles and agitated a strike unless wages were raised from 15 cents to 35 cents an hour. Of the 25 Mexicans working on the ranch, 10 quit their jobs but after talking with the officers, the rest went back to work.

Two of the agitators who invaded the premises were brought to Santa Ana for questioning by immigration inspectors when it was reported that they did not have legal immigration certificates.

Deputy Sheriffs A. L. Bells, Fred Humiston, G. F. McKelvey, Herman Zabel, and Merle Dean accompanied the sheriff.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 20. (To the Editor of The Register:) There ain't but one way of these foreign Princes (or so-called titled birds) to prove it to Americans, and that is for one of 'em to marry a poor girl. Then we will know he is a Prince. For in all our story-book reading the Prince always married the poor girl.

Mr. Roosevelt went out on what he hoped would be a quiet private cruise. All that followed him was a battleship, three Coast Guard cutters, three shiploads of newspaper men and two of cameramen.

Talk about a gossip old woman wanting to see and hear everything, American newspapers make an amateur out of her for hanging on the back fence and peeping in the keyhole. If I was him I would make a parachute jump some time and see if I couldn't get a few seconds of privacy.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

NOTED WOMAN LABOR LEADER PASSES AWAY

Justices and devoted herself assiduously to the labor movement. J. G. Phelps Stokes, millionaire socialist-philanthropist, while interesting himself in the labor movement, met the intense, fiery-tongued Russian girl and in 1905 they were married. The marriage shook society and provided dozens of Sunday supplement articles on the Cinderella romance that came true.

The Stokeses were divorced in 1925. Several years later Mrs. Stokes married Isaac Romaine, a tutor and writer.

Mrs. Stokes organized and participated in many strikes and preached the labor cause and socialism from one end of the country to the other. She was sentenced during the war to serve 10 years in Missouri state prison for violation of the federal espionage act. She was pardoned after the war.

Late in life she was converted to communism and shortly before her death she announced she hoped to live to see the United States of Soviet America.

SECOND BANDIT GETS PRISON TERM

Following failure of Parley Holt's insanity plea to save him from conviction, he was sentenced by Superior Judge H. G. Ames yesterday, to San Quentin prison for a term of from five years to life for first degree robbery. Holt was accused, with Wilmer Gray, of holding up and robbing the Ruth Jenkins Sandwich Shop last April. Gray pleaded not guilty and was convicted more than a week ago after a trial by jury. Holt entered the single plea of not guilty by reason of insanity and was convicted by jury last week after a trial during which Dr. Edward H. Williams and Dr. Fletcher J. Van Meter, alienists appointed by the court, declared him to be sane.

GAS PRICES HERE ARE BOOSTED AGAIN

Oil companies operating in Santa Ana increased the retail price of three grades of gasoline sold by one-half cent.

This increase was in addition to the half-cent Federal tax which motorists will pay and which has been put into effect.

New prices are 20 1/2 cents for ethyl, 17 1/2 cents for standard gasoline and 13 1/2 cents for third structure fuel.

RECOVERY ACT DRIVE STARTED THIS MORNING

said he hoped to have state organizations functioning by July 1 to bring relief to home owners in danger of foreclosure.

T. A. deLagrange from the far west agreed tentatively on a program involving $25,000,000 expenditure from public works funds to complete various reclamation projects and arranged to seek government approval at a conference later today.

It is the intention of the national recovery administration to have a basic code for each industry, rather than various codes for component parts of any one industry. Johnson, in his invitation to the ten largest industries, said that the codes which would be acceptable must meet three objectives—setting of maximum hours of labor, minimum rates of pay, and the prevention of methods by which each industry proposes to protect its constructive majority from the unfair competition of recalcitrant minorities.

Johnson said any minimum wage scale must be sufficient to provide a decent standard of living.

CITY WORKING TO GET FUNDS FOR CITY HALL

Definite action of the method to be used in securing funds to build a new city hall for Santa Ana was delayed last night by the city council pending more exact information and developments on the state and national plans available.

City Attorney Clyde Downing reported on his conference with R. F. C. and earthquake relief officials and Mayor Witmer told of his recent trip to Sacramento to confer with R. F. C. heads. Downing was asked to continue his investigations and keep in contact with the board.

Both Downing and Witmer said they had been given full assurance that R. F. C. officials would help Santa Ana to secure a loan for a city hall. Downing negotiated on the basis of $100,000 but was asked to have the city council prepare a more definite plan and submit it to the Los Angeles officials.

Erection Problem
The biggest question confronting the two groups is whether Santa Ana can be obligated without the necessity of calling an election or voting a bond issue. Downing said that he had formulated a tentative plan which the head of the Los Angeles office believed could be approved without an election. On the other hand, Witmer said that officials of the United Rehabilitation commission, under which Santa Ana could receive national funds, were of the opinion that an election would be necessary, not to vote bonds, but to give a note for the amount needed.

It was also pointed out at the council meeting that it might be possible to secure funds for rebuilding the city hall from funds of the $5,000,000 earthquake relief bill. It has been decided that new construction can be allowed under its provisions as long as the building is built on city property for city purposes. This would protect the city in case the location at Third and Main streets was not used, providing other property was secured in the name of the city.

Need Quick Action
The need for immediate action was stressed, regardless of which plan the city decides to use in getting the new building. Two-fifths of the entire earthquake fund has already been allocated, since floods have been added to the earthquake provision.

In connection with the R. F. C. projects, a letter was read from the League of California Municipalities in which quick action was urged in submitting projects and a total estimate of money needed for city public works to be built under the terms of the R. F. C. and national public works bill. The city group is compiling the estimates from all over the state and will forward the entire valuation to Washington in the near future.

Santa Ana Youth Hurt In Accident

Art Van der Bilt, 21, R. D. 4, Box 268, Santa Ana, was slightly injured in an automobile accident on Huntington Beach boulevard about one mile north of Westminster late Sunday night, it was reported to officers today.

The youth was driving south on Huntington Beach boulevard when struck by a car driven by D. H. McKinley, 653 Roycroft, Long Beach. It was reported. Van der Bilt claimed McKinley failed to make a boulevard stop at the intersection.

Plan Joint Meet Of City Boards On Use of Old School

If there is any possibility of working out an arrangement between the city council and the board of education regarding the use of the old Frances Willard school site on North Main street, it will be decided at a joint meeting of the two boards in the near future.

Acting favorably on the request of the board of education for the meeting, the city council last night agreed to attend on any date that would prove convenient to both bodies. The school board letter expressed regret that the original plans for a trade of the city hall site and Willard block had to be dropped because of legal qualifications.

E. L. Vegely, city clerk, was asked to notify Rolla Hayes, vice president of the board and chairman in the absence of George Wells, president, that the proposed meeting should be arranged at once.

EXPERTS' FEES OF $50 DAILY HELD TOO HIGH

Fees of $50 per day paid alienists to testify as expert witnesses in criminal cases in Orange county came under the scrutiny of the board of supervisors.

The board's attention was called to the matter by W. C. Jerome, supervisor for the First district when he delayed signing a warrant for $500 for two alienists called in two criminal trials during the month.

Jerome said that in view of the board's economy program he believed that a fee of $50 daily for expert testimony is out of line. The matter of fees will be taken up with judges of the superior court in an effort to have the expert witness fee lowered.

According to the law the fee for alienists is set by the court who appoints them. One of the experts, under the law must be a member of the staff of a state institution and the other is appointed at the court's discretion.

The general practice in Orange county when a prisoner enters a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity is to appoint Dr. Fletcher J. Van Meter and Dr. Edward H. Williamson. Dr. Van Meter is a state alienist and Dr. Williamson has been called as alienist in some of the most famous criminal cases in the west.

LOCAL POSTAL RATES TO BE CUT JULY 1

After July 1 residents of Santa Ana can send local first class mail for two cents instead of three cents.

An order restoring the two-cent postal rate for local mail on first class matter July 1 was signed today by Postmaster General Farley.

Postmaster Terry E. Stephenson said today that a check made in the Santa Ana postoffice revealed that the average first class mail handled at the local office tallied about 30 per cent.

Reduction from the present 3-cent rate is being made under a recently enacted law. Officials hope that the volume of business will be increased to a point where work will be provided for many postal employees in the nation who might otherwise be furloughed without pay.

The rate on letters mailed to other cities outside Santa Ana will remain at three cents. The rate for postal cards remains at one cent.

NON-SUIT MOTION GRANTED BY JUDGE

Suit of Jesus Garcia, suing the Pacific Electric Railway for damages totalling $11,888 was thrown out of court yesterday when Superior Judge James L. Allen granted the defense motion of non-suit.

The motion was made by Frank Karr, representing the Pacific Electric on the grounds that Garcia had failed to prove negligence on the part of the railway company.

Garcia filed suit for damages following an accident near Garden Grove on November 19, 1931 when a Pacific Electric car struck the automobile driven by Garcia. Garcia alleges that he received injuries that will keep him from working for the rest of his life and that his automobile was completely demolished.

Garcia, in his suit charged the railway company with negligence, reckless and carelessness in operation of a car on the right-of-way. Answering the complaint the Pacific Electric alleged contributory negligence on the part of Garcia as a defense.

Noted Orange Grower, Writes on Beer and Orange Question:

To Orange Ranchers, Investors, Workers, Santa Ana Business Men and Voters —

Upon no other industry, outside of oil, does anything like the prosperity and progress of Orange county and Southern California rest like it does on the citrus business.

An orange jobber in the East, who had been handling oranges, recently ordered 110 carloads of beer and said he was "discontinuing selling oranges because they were unprofitable when compared to beer."

The sales representative of one fruit concern, writing from the East in May, said: "There has been a very definite reduction in the sales of orange juice in fountains and stands, due to the sale of beer."

Since 1921 there have grown up 105,000 drink stands. These drink stands sell the juice of 15,000 carloads of oranges yearly. The sale of beer has been so far felt that it is expected that these fruit stands will reduce their demand for oranges by more than one-half, to not over 7,000 cars rather than 15,000.

In a large Eastern city, a chain group of fountains announces that since the sale of beer from their fountains, the sale of orange juice has decreased 40 per cent.

There are more than 500,000 people directly connected with the raising and sale of oranges, and upon the success of that industry depends their livelihood and happiness.

The prosperity of all the other millions of people in California is very considerably dependent upon the development of the industry.

Orange raising is Southern California's $100,000,000 industry. We must keep it so.

This beginning of transfer of orange juice to beer is not a temporary or transient deal. The brewers are endeavoring to write this industry into the fundamental law of the land.

Before prohibition, the liquor traffic, legal as milk in many places, competed with orange juice and grape juice. It reached the tremendous proportions of 20 gallons per capita. It was only after prohibition that both these juices sprang into general use and their sales into great quantities.

The coming of the 18th amendment, the outlawing of the traffic, its elimination from legal standing, places the nutritious and health-giving drink at the fore-front of America's industry. Beer was driven out of the market.

The repeal of the 18th amendment will return beer and other alcoholic liquor to their former status.

Most of the liquor men are perfectly willing to have the tax attached to liquor, so that they can couple its sales with government necessity and patriotic motives.

Do you want the liquor industry as a permanent competitor with the orange business?

If you would protect the livelihood of 500,000 people, if you would continue orange raising as a $100,000,000 business, VOTE AGAINST REPEAL OF THE 18TH AMENDMENT.

Think before you vote, Mr. Orange Rancher, Investor Home Owner and Worker.

Do not give your dollars to the Brewer on June 27th. Keep them for Orange county.

A. J. McFADDEN.

MERCHANTS ASK COUNCIL GIVES CHANGE IN NEW PERMISSION FOR HANDBILL LAW FIESTA BANNER

Merchants of Santa Ana do not object to certain parts of the proposed new handbill ordinance but they desire some form of protection from outside advertisers who would draw trade away from this city. It was brought out yesterday afternoon at a conference between City Attorney Clyde Downing and representatives of the Santa Ana Merchants' association and Business Men's association of Santa Ana.

The meeting was called after the business groups had voiced vigorous protest at the new ordinance, which was given its first reading at the council meeting last week.

Downing has not revealed how he would frame an ordinance which would protect local interests without being discriminatory against the trade. Under the terms of the "Pasadena plan," from which the new law was largely copied, anyone may distribute advertising matter by paying a nominal license fee and not giving the material to property owners who do not desire it.

During the discussions last week, councilmen agreed on a license fee of $5 for a six month permit. Business men were of the opinion that this would "let down the bars to outside interests," and take away valuable trade from this area.

At the present time, the city ordinance requires that the distributor must have the permission of the property owner, either by getting a permission in person, before advertising matter may be given out. Five arrests have been made and fines paid for violations in the last few weeks, and the case against the Shopping News is expected to be taken before a jury sometime this week.

GUSTAVUS LAMME CALLED BY DEATH

Gustavus B. Lamme, 91, member of the Grand Army of the Republic, but not of the Santa Ana post, died at his home, 829 Garfield street, last night.

The aged Civil war veteran had been working in the yard of his home when he suffered a heart attack. The attack was not immediately fatal, but he died during the night.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Clyde Bach, Santa Ana; one son, Edgar H. Lamme, Springfield, Ohio; four grandsons, Hal, George, Sam and Bernard; one granddaughter, Dorothy L. Green, Long Beach, and two cousins, Mrs. C. W. Burns and Elmer Burns, both of Santa Ana.

Funeral arrangements are being made by the Harrell and Brown funeral home.

The Santa Ana B. P. O. E. thanked the city council last night for the use of the Bowl on June 14 for flag day exercises and expressed appreciation for co-operation given to the affair.

Albert Launer, secretary of the Orange County League of Municipalities, wrote to the council last night and asked a full attendance at the meeting of the association to be Thursday night in San Clemente.

The offensive sign on Buero road is located on a strip of city property leading to the city dump. When this fact was pointed out to the council, with the additional information that the road used by private citizens taking trash to be dumped, as well as the city trucks, the councilmen lost no time in dropping action to remove the sign.

DOG LICENSE FEES MAY BE INCREASED

Dog fanciers of Santa Ana who pay a license of $2 for keeping one dog and operate a kennel of one or more dogs, are likely to have the dog license ordinance changed and be forced to pay higher rates.

Councilman E. G. Warner presented a report of the dog catchers which contained the names of 12 persons who are willing to pay an increased rate for kennel privileges. Discussion was held whether the city ordinance should be changed to classify dog kennels as a business or whether to merely change the yearly fee.

The matter was finally referred to the city attorney for a study of existing dog licenses.

CHILDREN'S HEALTH CAMP TO BE CLOSED

Orange County Children's Health camp, near Irvine park, operated by the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, will be abandoned on June 30, it was learned today.

Abandonment of the camp, caused by lack of funds, is not expected to be permanent, but to be a temporary measure until funds for camp operation can be obtained, according to A. J. Cruickshank, treasurer.

Not enough money was obtained in the seal sale campaign to operate the camp, and groups that have been helping maintain the camp have been forced to curtail their help, it was said.

There were 24 boys and girls at the camp when school let out.

POLICE CHECK UP ON NOTE IN BOTTLE

Sensing the possibility of a practical joke, Los Angeles police officers were checking up today to see if there is any truth in a note found in a floating bottle at Huntington Beach yesterday and referred to the Orange county sheriff's office for investigation.

Writing that she was the victim of Mexican bandits "June Derringer" gave the address of her parents in Los Angeles and asked authorities to notify them. The note also asked for $500 as ransom but gave no forwarding address for the money.

Police Chief Verne Keller of Huntington Beach sent the note to the sheriff's office last night.

FIREMEN URGED CIVIL SERVICE FOR VOLUNTEER

R. D. Woodward, of Laguna Beach, president of the Orange County Firemen's association, yesterday sent a telegram to Governor James Rolph, urging him to sign a bill that would enable volunteer as well as volunteer firemen to go on a civil service basis.

The message was the result of a resolution adopted Sunday at Irvine park by representatives from seven firemen's associations in Southern California, and more than 60 departments who had met for an annual picnic and field day. Six hundred and fifty attended the picnic, the Orange County association being host for the occasion.

Orange county won the annual baseball contest from the San Diego county association, which won last year the silver cup put up by the San Diego fire department. Next year the Riverside county and Citrus Belt associations will challenge Orange county for the cup. Any association that wins it two years in succession may retain permanent possession.

The score of Sunday's contest was 12 to 4. Al Bushman of Anaheim, brother of Fire Chief P. J. Bushman of Laguna Beach, was in the box for the victors and Barney Le Bard, one of the best known of the Orange county players, caught. Le Bard is a member of the Laguna Beach department.

Battalion Chief Harry E. Strasser of the San Diego department, who is secretary-treasurer of the California State Firemen's association, made the principal address at the business meeting. He warned the firemen that cities are beginning to cut their fire department budgets drastically. In San Diego, 30 firemen and four stations have been cut out entirely and the pay has been reduced 25 per cent.

Others who spoke were Capt. A. W. Swanson of Southgate, vice-president; Capt. W. A. Myers of Los Angeles, past president, and Capt. C. J. Hildebrandt of Pasadena, first vice president of the state association; Lieut. Maurice Clements of Long Beach, editor of the California Fireman; mount, secretary, and Chief John Richards, president of the San Diego county association; Chief Richards, Sierra Madre; Chief Harry Stevens, Monrovia; Chief Cooke, president of the Citrus Belt association; former Chief W. A. Fuller of Pasadena. Mrs. Jessie Strasser, secretary, Mrs. J. McNish, director, and Mrs. George Gable, marshal of the state association, were introduced.

Young Worley was fatally shot by George who alleges that the slain youth and a companion came to the George home late one night and demanded admittance saying that they wanted a drink. George claims that he warned the youths away from the house and did not fire his revolver until the third warning had been given the youths and they had made, what he believed, an attempt to force an entrance to the house.

Worley was the first witness called this morning. He told of his son's death and was followed to the stand by J. H. Delist, Fullerton policeman who was called to the George home after the shooting. He testified to finding the body of Worley, and taking Mr. and Mrs. George into custody.

REMEDY FOR CORN EAR WORM FOUND

Recent tests made by the agricultural extension service, according to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, indicate that commercial corn ear worms is a possibility.

The most effective insecticide is sodium fluosulfate. Near the coast where there is considerable dampness it may cause some burning, in which case barium fluosulfate may be substituted, although this latter insecticide is not considered quite so effective in killing the worms.

At least applications are recommended, using about 15 pounds of the dust per acre for each application. Two applications are not enough. Apply the first when an occasional silk is showing. The second should be put on about a week or ten days later, when the corn is about in full silk. The third application is given a week after the second.

ANAHEIM PAIR PRINCIPALS IN BREACH SUIT

Miss Laura Celaya, former employee of an Anaheim laundry, filed suit in superior court yesterday against K. J. Stichtman, formerly employed in the Anaheim street department, demanding $25,000 damages alleging breach of promise.

Miss Celaya alleged in her complaint that prior to May 4, last, Stichtman asked her to marry him and upon her consent they agreed upon May 4 as the date for the wedding.

Relying on his promise of marriage, Miss Celaya alleges that he gave up her position at the laundry and prepared for the marriage. In addition to giving up her employment, according to the complaint, she told her friends and relatives of the impending nuptials the cancellation of which, according to the complaint, caused her no little humiliation and embarrassment.

As the marriage date drew near, according to the complaint, Stichtman kept deferring the date and on May 4 he definitely refused to go ahead with the ceremony.

Her embarrassment and humiliation through Stichtman's refusal to marry her was valued at $25,000 by Miss Celaya in her prayer for damages.

SAYS BIG INSURANCE FIRMS LABEL PERSONS HANDLING BEER UNDESIRABLE RISKS

Declaring that agencies of five of the largest and best known insurance companies of the nation had refused to write cargo insurance on a fleet of beer trucks on the grounds that "The class of people who handle beer are not the class of people we want to write insurance for," W. B. Martin, prominent real estate and insurance man of Santa Ana, briefly addressed the Men's Community Bible class Sunday, urging members to work for retention of dry laws.

"There was a man in my office this week arguing as to why we should have beer in Santa Ana," Martin, who is past president of the Santa Ana Realty board and former secretary of the Kiwanis club, said, "when the phone rang, and another man asked me to write cargo insurance on a fleet of beer trucks between San Francisco, San Diego and Las Vegas."

"While my visitor sat there, I tried to place that insurance with five of the biggest and best known insurance companies in the nation, by phone. Every one of them turned down without the least hesitation. For the benefit of my visitor I asked why, and was told, 'Martin, you know why. The class of people who handle beer are not the class of people we want to write insurance for.' These companies know that there is nothing decent or respectable about the liquor business and there never will be. 'Everyone knows that a man is at his worst when liquor is in him.'"

"Let's get busy and keep this city and county dry, men. It can be done."

ANAHEIM MEN DEFENDANTS IN DAMAGE ACTION

Damages totaling $8320 for injuries received in an automobile accident near the Country club last February 11 are demanded in a suit filed yesterday against Victor Schmeltzer of Anaheim and his father, the Rev. H. G. Schmeltzer, pastor of the Zion Evangelical Lutheran church of Anaheim. The suit was filed by Miss Carol House, 18, through her father and guardian ad litem, George H. House, of Santa Ana.

In her first cause of action for which she is demanding $4000 actual and $160 special damages, Miss House alleges that through Schmeltzer's careless, reckless and unlawful operation of his father's automobile she received injuries that may permanently disfigure her face when the car was involved in an accident at the intersection of Mesa drive and Orange street.

In her second cause of action for which a similar amount is demanded she alleges that at the time of the accident Schmeltzer was intoxicated.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Editor Register, Dear Sir:— On June 27 the electorate of this state will be empowered to alleviate present depressive conditions directly affecting California's 800,000 unemployed, and their dependents numbering in all nearly two million men, women and children.

The manner in which relief can be administered to these unfortunates has been provided for in the form of Proposition No. 2, and appearing upon the ballot at the special election on June 27.

Should Proposition No. 2 pass, the state administration will sell the Reconstruction Finance Corporation twenty millions of dollars in bonds. From this fund various counties may borrow the sum equivalent to the amount they have already appropriated for county relief. Added to this amount, the provisions of the Wagner relief bill make available to the county another amount equal to the state loan.

As an illustration: I understand that Orange county has expended approximately $20,000 per month in direct relief. If such is the case, this county would be entitled to a loan of $400,000 as their annual budget.

Fourth of July excursionists this year will have the benefit of the lowest round trip railroad transportation ever offered for the holiday period.

Covering the company's lines in six western states, the so-called Dollar Day excursions will have a return limit of July 11, it was announced.

CITY RAT ASSOCIATION IN PANIC AT POISON THREAT

Members of the Santa Ana Rat association—excepting the 2480 that have been trapped by the workers in the R. F. C. rodent control campaign—went into executive session this morning to formulate means of fighting the added threat of a poison attack being used against them.

During the 20 days the rodent crews have been working, 2480 rats have been added to the "In Memoriam" department of the rat association. The remaining members of the association are expected to be the ones who will be the victims of the poison attack.

Grandpa Rat, the biggest, fiercest and wisest rat of them all, had stuck his nose into a trap. He was of Norwegian descent, measured 16 inches from his nose to the tip of his tail, and was the first of his kind to be caught in the business district.

Jack Word, foreman of the rodent crew of 13 men, announced today that rat poison also is being used to supplement the trap system. This is expected to increase the average catch of about 120 animals a day. Under the present allotment, the drive will terminate on June 29.

Added to this amount, the Wagner bill would permit another $240,000 as a donation. This amount will not have to be repaid, I understand.

Summing up these facts, Orange county will then have available for unemployment relief the total sum of $720,000 for the fiscal year, 1933 to 1934.

The $240,000 borrowed from the state would be repaid in ten equal installments, beginning in 1937 from gas tax funds which are annually allotted the various counties from the state administration, so it can be seen there are no dangers or individual taxation.

Unless Proposition No. 2 passes, various counties within the state will have no further aid from the R. F. C., thus throwing the burden of support of the unemployed and indigents directly upon the taxpayer. In my estimation, the passage of Proposition No. 2 will be considered one of the most important factors in our climb toward normalcy, because it will create WORK, and there are approximately 800,000 willing men in Orange county who have applied for, and are awaiting the magic call to WORK!

Proposition No. 2 has the support of nearly all civic and social groups, it is reported, and I confidently expect its passage, because you and I will not see 800,000 of our unemployed and their dependents suffer.

Sincerely,
A. D. COMITO.

BRUSHING UP SPORTS By Laufer

HOOKS &amp; SLIDES By WILLIAM BRAUCHER

THE MARGIN OF A PUTT

It's tough that Ralph Guldahl missed that last putt on the eighteenth green that would have given him a tie with Johnny Goodman in the National Open— for if Ralph had sunk that putt, and had beaten Goodman in a play-off, he might have been the fellow selected to fill that vacant tenth position on the U. S. Ryder Cup team instead of Billie Burke.

INTESTINAL FORTITUDE

The boys are singing the praises of Johnny Goodman after his win with a score of one under par— 287, but the slim, stoop-shouldered pro from St. Louis is deserving of a few plaudits.

There's no doubt that he shot courageous golf. Practically an unknown when he entered the tournament, Ralph had to listen to disconcerting reports of Armour's par-shattering first round of 68 while he turned in a card of 76, eight strokes behind.

Then, that second day, while dividing his time between carting his Pekingese pup around and burning them down the fairway, he steadied up his game and turned in a 71 in the face of Johnny Goodman's 66, a score that set a new course record and tied the tournament record for a single round.

Two cards of 70 and 71 on the last day brought him one stroke behind Goodman, who cracked a little, especially on that last circuit, when he turned in 76.

WHY BURKE?

Bobby Jones once made the remark: "Give me a score of 290 in the Open and I won't play."

It is interesting to note that only two of the 150 players in the Open this year bettered that mark— Goodman and Guldahl. Craig Wood with 290, Bobby's figure, finished third.

Guldahl shot good enough golf to win the classic, according to Jones' figuring, and good enough golf to win that berth on the Ryder team, according to the way Billie Burke finished far down the list with 205.

It's difficult to do up any reason for the P. G. A. selection of Burke—unless you tack it on the protest of other members of the team after Burke was left off the original list. It may be that the loud squawks caused officials to elect Burke and save their faces.

Anyhow it remains that Guldahl played better golf than Burke in the Open, and that one putt probably kept him off the team.

The moral of this story is: Study up on your putting.

SURVEYING CURRENT SPORTS IN COMPANY WITH M'LEMORE

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 20.—(UP)—Putting the sports short here and there:

One of the most exclusive groups in the country is the "300" club, composed of men who have lifted 300 or more pounds above their heads. There are only four members at present, Bill Good and Joe Miller of York, Pa., and George Jowett and Henry Steinbock of Philly. . . Wesley Cheek Ferrell, Cleveland right-hander, probably will celebrate his 100th major league victory within a few days. . . To date Ferrell has won 98 and lost 54 in his five years as an Indian regular.

Linwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, a giant young Detroit pitcher, once was a fighter managed by the late Frank Foster, Dallas sportsman and oil operator. . . Foster, who was National billiard champion before turning to promotion, found Rowe in El Dorado, Ark. That was years before the "Schoolboy" learned his pitching.

Suzanne Lengien would just as lief go on the tennis courts these days without her racket as with her knees unroughed. Although Lengien, today a professional, is barred from amateur play, her occasional appearances at the Autell stadium draw admiring crowds. Her figure is almost maternally, but European experts believe she still could whip any of the women players with the possible exception of Mrs. Moody.

Primo Carnera, all stories to the contrary, is a light eater. The giant Italian never eats lunch and his breakfasts and dinners would create no sensation if ordered in a restaurant. Primo dispises spaghetti and cares little for red wine.

Fred Barnard, who was up with the Giants for a spell, now runs a goat ranch in New Mexico. . . After his managers were paid off and the training camp expenses settled, Max Baer had something less than $10,000 left for his Schmeling kayo. . . Babe Ruth likes the Yanks and Cards for the 1933 World series. . . Bill Terry, manager of the Giants, rates "Pepper" Martin as the best third baseman in the National league right now.

Rumor has it that Rogers Hornsby will manage either the Tigers, Red Sox or Phillies next year. . . With the exception of Connie Mack, "Bucky" Harris of Detroit has remained in one place, longer than any other of the present major league pilots. This is "Bucky's" fifth year as head of the Tigers. . . The Yankees are grooming Jack Saltzgeber, Newark second baseman, to replace Joe Sewell at third in 1934. Jack was recently shifted from second to the hot corner.

Members of the Michigan State Ski club recently enjoyed some winter coating by substituting straw for snow on a hill. . . Jewell Ens, assistant manager of the Reds, was never put off the field by an umpire until last week when he was shooed twice in four days. . . Joe Morrissey, Cincinnati infielder, and one of the thinnest players in the majors, gains weight in hot weather instead of losing.

BABE DIDRIKSON TO GOLF HERE Stars Begin New Round At Anaheim

EX-RULERS OF NIGHT LEAGUE NOW ALSO-RANS

Beginning the third and final round of the National league's long "first half," Santa Ana and Anaheim, onetime monarchs of after-supper baseball, square off on Anaheim's city park diamond tonight.

Like Harvard and Yale's annual football classic, the Star-Valencia conflict means nothing because both clubs are hopelessly out of pennant contention, but Santa Ana would rather beat Anaheim than any other, and Anaheim would prefer losing to all before Santa Ana. That's the spirit that has made all Star-Valencia engagements colorful and interesting.

Anaheim is two-up on the poor old Stars now, and is favored to make it three in a row tonight. The Valentias have played better ball than the Stars all year largely because their pitching staff has been vastly more consistent.

Bushman Anaheim's ace, Al Bushman, Anaheim's ace, is in top form right now and his wicked raise-ball, possibly the best in the business, is so good that Anaheim's management actually believes he'll pitch the champions to the "second half" championship and a post-season playoff with Torrance or Huntington Beach, the only teams left in the race for the "first half" flag.

Bob Rose, Anaheim's No. 2 gunner, has been released outright. Another pitcher, perhaps some hot number who has escaped the attention of other scouts, will join the Valentias shortly.

The Valentias have signed Deane Downer, former Whittier and Long Beach hurler, to fill the gap temporarily.

Anaheim will use substantially the same lineup that faced Santa Ana in two earlier matches. Francis Lemon will catch Bushman. Mal Higgins will be at first base, Jim McNabb second, Al Kohler third and Les Haezot shortstop. The failure of Kohler and Haezot in early season games is blamed for Anaheim's comparatively poor showing this season although the two infielders have begun to hit in recent starts.

Randolph Bell appears in left field and Charley Zabbia, a dangerous hitter, in center. Right field might be assigned any of three men, "Kid" Comstock, Joe Mene or Max Moody. Comstock has hit seasonally in several games.

Seacord Gets A Assignment

Wilson Seacord, now Santa Ana's first string chucker, will work for the Stars with Manager "Eeny" Wilcox doing the catching. Ed Daley, George Preble, Tommy Young and "Memphis" Hill will man the infield as usual. Tom Denney, Rod Ballard and probably "Rosy" Merrill will patrol the pastures.

Torrance's somewhat fortunate league-leader at Whittier, The Terrers were so lucky there once that they beat "String" McDonnell 1-0 although the Whittier pitcher turned in a no-hit game. Maybe "String" will get the breaks tonight. Or perhaps he'll assign his new gunner, Paul Watson, to the task instead.

Ben Gelker's Olive club, keeping Santa Ana and Anaheim company in the role of flops, invades Huntington Beach for what may prove the best game of the evening.

Fullerton a better club than its standing indicates, ought to give Westminster a good workout at least. They play at Westminster. The standings:

NATIONAL NIGHT LEAGUE
	W.	L.	Pct.
Torrance	13	1	.923
Huntington Beach	10	4	.714

Whittier	5	9	.357
Santa Ana	4	10	.286

Dempsey Not To Be Garden Matchmaker

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 20.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey, promoter of the Max Baer-Max Schmeling bout, will not become the matchmaker for Madison Square Garden in New York City, he said here last night.

The Garden and its policy of outside interference has "smothered" some fine boxing promoters, including "Tex" Rickard and Jimmy Johnston, he asserted.

"When you're making matches for the Garden, you're not making bouts, you're not making bouts, you're not making bouts that some bird down on Wall street or Park avenue thinks should be promoted," said Dempsey.

"If there was a chance of my going into the Garden as an undisputed boss, without any interference, I might consider the job but that is practically impossible as I size up the situation, and therefore I'll continue to run independently."

Wrestlers are not proud. Maybe that's why the are not poor.

The giants of the mat do not take their titles as seriously as other rulers of sport.

For instance, the light-heavyweight champion of California, Dr. E. A. Mullikan, will appear in a 30-minute curtain-raiser at tomorrow night, and think nothing of such an obscure place on the card.

Dr. Mullikan, clever 175-pounder, who is easily the best at his weight on the coast, will open Promoter Cal Eaton's big outdoor mat show against Harry Ekizian, an Armenian who once held the heavyweight championship of the U. S. Navy.

Promoter Eaton claims his program, showing an accredited state titleholder in an opening spot—once of the strongest ever offered outside of Los Angeles or San Francisco.

He is particularly proud of the fact that the show will be offered at popular prices—50 cents, 75 cents and $1.10, the last for ring-side. Reservations, he stated, may be made at the K. B. Drug store, 600 North Main street, or at Y's cigar store, 403 West Fourth street.

The main event pairs Oki Shikina, 265-pound Japanese Jui-Jitsu expert, in a best two-out-of-three falls encounter with Pete Shooe, 262-year-old bald protegee of "Strangler" Levis. Shoe, one-time University of Illinois track and football star, is said to be the only wrestler whom Lewis personally coached in the use of the headlock, long a Lewis specialty.

Myron Cox and Nick Ellich meet in another two-out-of-three falls affair. George Maloney and Steve Strelich will go 30 minutes or one fall.

Yesterdays Results

Buffalo, N. Y., June 20.—(UP)—Max Baer, conqueror of Max Schmeling, and California's hope for the world's heavyweight boxing championship, drew only 3000 persons last night when he opened an exhibition tour by winning a four-round decision over Pete Wistort of Chicago.

CAREY LEAVES GARDEN BROKE Was Millionaire When He Became Arena President LOYALTY IS ITS OWN REWARD

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, June 20.—(INS)—Eleven days hence, a man by the name of William F. Carey is going to walk out of Madison Square Garden and is not coming back—granting that the Garden will feel free when the time comes to accept the implied rebuke. They say he's an honest man and this must be so, because when he became president and general manager after Rickard's death, he was a millionaire, living at the rate of $200,000 a year. Today, he's broke.

These, briefly stated, are the essential facts of an amazing story. It is amazing because it deals so largely with self-sacrifice and loyalty and high courage in an age where only the Philistine is understood. The man abandoned all other interests and gave four years of his life to the job. From a practical standpoint, I suppose the job was reasonable. All it took in return was everything.

It's finished with him now. He has done his work in a way that will allow almost anyone to carry on the details in his absence, so it is allowing him to resign because of some technical difficulty for which he need not have accepted full responsibility, but did. It still could hold him—if it would. But honesty, a theoretical virtue at best, is not always a valuable trait. In other words, what does a business man mean by being honest nowadays?

What this particular business man meant by it can be realized more adequately by the fact that even those who have reason to dislike him admit that, without him, boxing at Madison Square Garden might not have survived these four, hazy years.

Here, for instance, is what he did for Madison Square Garden:

1. Reduced the mortgage from $2,700,000 to $1,250,000.
2. Built a 70,000 outdoor-bowl and paid for it out of its own receipts in less than a year.
3. Built up a cash reserve between $500,000 and $600,000. There wasn't the change out of a quarter in the cash reserve when Carey took charge.
4. Kept the arena going full-time and on a profitable basis when all others folded, bucked and subsided, some of them never to rise again.

And, meantime, this is what Madison Square Garden did to him:

1. Appointed James J. Johnston general manager of boxing and forgot to notify the president.
2. Reduced his salary.
3. Complained bitterly about his policies, even while accepting the money they produced.
4. Appointed John Kilpatrick, Yale's great end of another generation, as vice-president and forgot to notify the president.

This last move did not prove too onerous for Carey to accept, for several reasons, one of them being that Carey and Kilpatrick are friends of many years standing. But the others did not rest lightly on the presidential bosom.

I won't go so far as to say that they were intolerable but it must have come pretty close to that, because Carey is leaving the Garden broke and, in spite of a few delusions to the contrary, he isn't going anywhere. He will have no connection, as alleged, with the moving pictures. He will make no attempt to tie in with Wall Street. He won't even have a job.

So maybe, as the book insists, honesty is the best policy. But policy is only an idea. It's bright and shining and beautiful to see. But you cannot eat it.

PRIMO AWFUL IN GYMNASIUM But So Were Gene Tunney, Mickey Walker and Baer SHARKEY'S NO CINCH TO WIN

BY HENRY M'LEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, June 20.—(UP)—If you are looking about these days for an excuse to take advantage of the nice and juicy odds which are certain to be given on that large party, Primo Carnera, on the night of June 29, you might do worse than take into consideration the many great fighters who, like the giant Italian, couldn't whip your Cousin Egbert in a gymnasium.

At the same time you might give a thought to the regiment of boxers who looked like a combination of Sullivan, Dempsey and Leonard in the gym, but who folded up like a music rack in actual combat.

Two of the more famous illustrations of this class were Tom Cowler, English heavyweight, and Jack McAuliffe the second.

The late Tim Corbett used to tell what a sucker Cowler made of him. In a gym Cowler could do any and everything. Yet when they stood him out in front of Jack Dillon, the Englishman was like a possum when you shine a light in his eyes, and was knocked kicking while his friends were still making bets.

McAuliffe looked so hot in training that his contract was purchased for $15,000. It was worth exactly one dime when Firpo finished belting him in one of the preliminaries to the Floyd Johnson-Jess Willard go at the stadium. Other great gym fighters who had difficulty getting their hands up once the bell rang in an actual fight were Al Reich, "Spider" Roach, Fred Fulton, Jim Coffey and Joe Cox.

But we were talking about fighters, who like Carnera, looked lousy in training. Gene Tunney is a fine one to consider. One peep at Tunney in a workout and you'd swear you could lick him every day in the week and twice on Sunday. For some reason the man many consider the finest all-around boxer the ring ever saw couldn't get going until it meant something. Mickey Walker is an even better example than Tunney. In gymnasium form Mickey wouldn't get past the first round of the Middle Atlantic States intercollegiate. Yet the Mick will go down in the books as one of the meanest, toughest, hell-cattiest middleweights of all time.

So, Carnera's unimpressive workouts for the Sharkey may be a good omen. Certainly, if looking punk in training is a sign, he'll be a ripping killer against Sharkey. What we mean is, he looks pretty awful. Or at least he did yesterday.

In four rounds against Harold Mays and a gentleman of color introduced as "Humberto Orsi, champion of Porto Rico," Primo proved it was possible to commit each of boxing's seven daily sins in seven distinct ways. Looking at him you felt that Sharkey was as equippose against Kate Smith at a mile-and-a-quarter.

But, you will remember, 99 out of 100 said Schmeling was a cinch to slaughter Baer, and the German was lucky and proud to have a head sitting upon his neck when he sailed.

Navy Boxing Aces Due At Delhi Thurs.

Matchmaker Kid Mexico today completed final arrangements for the appearance here Thursday night of some of the finest boxers in the United States navy.

A complete team from the famed aircraft carrier, the U. S. S. Lexington, anchored at San Pedro, will invade the Delhi arena for a series of matches with the best amateur produced in Orange county during the past year.

Honorato Echavez, all-navy flyweight champion, will be one of the Lexington's fighters. "Cup-Cup" Rutkuriz, a light heavy, will be another top representative. He'll meet "Bud" McCarter in the main event, according to present plans.

"Ponyboy" Quarles, rated as the leading lightweight in the Pacific battlefleet, will go against Nat Mills, Irvine's pride.

Matchmaker Mexico will announce the entire lineup tomorrow.

Still undefeated, Santa Ana's Green Cats today enjoyed a full two-game lead in the Orange County Night Ball league pennant race with only five more to be played in the first half of the split schedule.

The "Cats" won their fifth successive game here last night, Irvine being the victim, 9 to 4. Lyle Morse hurled his first game of the season for the Santa Anas and outpitched George Stevens, the Beanypickers' fast-ball specialist. Morse walked seven but struck out 14 and gave only six hits.

Santa Ana did most of its run-making in the early innings, piling up three in the first and three more in the second. Al Reiborn hit safely thrice.

Huntington Beach forced Orange down into a tie for second place with a 3-1 victory, thanks to Ed Starkey's line drive homer to right with Callahan aboard in the seventh. Walters and Peltzer both fanned 13. Curt Youle's fielding featured for Orange.

Anaheim defeated Olive, 3-2, in 10 innings. Fee's single, Heman's error on Mott's fly and hits by Claussen and Deason broke up the game.

REPORTS GIVEN AS METHODIST BOARD MEETS

FULLERTON, June 20.—The Methodist church official board met last night to conclude the business of the year prior to opening of the conference of the church June 28 at Long Beach. The board reported that affairs of the church are in good shape.

The pastor, the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, who was extended an invitation to return to Fullerton at the last quarterly conference, yesterday attended a meeting of the conference board. ## What Makes a Safe Tire? ...I KNOW!

Are you willing to risk your life on advertising statements claiming blowout-proof and unblowable tires? One manufacturer gives as the reason for claiming blowout-proof tires—the use of one ply of another color—another, a patented "no breaker" construction—a mail order house, high stretch "elastic" cords, etc., etc. Actually the fundamental cause of a tire blowout is the flexing of the tire which causes friction of the fibers in the cord, resulting in heat and causing the rubber to soften and the cords to deteriorate.

There is a reason why Firestone Tires have won the 500-mile Indianapolis race for 14 consecutive years, the most grueling tire test. The reason is the Firestone patented extra process of Gum-Dipping which saturates every fiber and insulates every cord with pure rubber—which gives strength to the cords and prevents friction and heat in the fibers. This year 42 drivers in this race equipped their cars with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and not a single driver had any tire trouble.

Race drivers know why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are safer and not subject to blowout and will not risk their lives on ordinary tires. Your life and the lives of your family are often in danger at the high road speeds of today and you should not take greater risks than the race drivers who make sure that they have the best and safest tires they can buy—Firestone. Come in today. We will give you a liberal trade-in allowance for your old tires on new Firestone High Speed Tires—the safest tires in the World.

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

DOLLARS

Some economists and speculators grew hot when they heard the administration was working out plans for temporary currency stabilization at London.

Apparently they all reached for telephones and called Washington when they read we were pressing the British into an agreement. They shrieked commodity prices here might be adversely affected.

They pleaded with the administration to hold off.

That is the underlying reason why the agreement was not then announced. It is also the reason why the Cox committee in London adjourned from Friday until Monday.

They had to have time to think.

There was good ground for the objections. The only inflation we have had so far is based on the supposition that we are off the gold standard. Actually the dollar is still a dollar. There is just as much gold behind it as there ever was.

When we stabilize it, we help our foreign trade. We make international commerce easier. As a long time proposition it is a very necessary thing. But the immediate effect is to stop the inflation buying wave. With the dollar stabilized the delusion of inflation is lost. The only way you can get inflation then is to revalue the dollar domestically.

There are indications that Gov. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve and Dr. Sprague, our exchange expert, were willing to stabilize at $4 to the pound. The boys here thought it should be higher. They wanted $4.25. Their private little scheme for running up the pound with J. P.

Morgan began to cost big money after they got it up to $4.18. It would have cost plenty to push it to $4.25.

That is one reason why you saw it ease off last week-end.

The idea that the Morgans had anything to do with the war debts agreement is too silly to mention outside of a partisan political argument. That is why only Senator Robinson of Indiana mentioned it in the Senate.

It is true that the Morgans cooperated fully on the exchange manipulation. Nobody will criticize that. For once this country had some cooperation between the government and the international bankers in working out a patriotic foreign policy. It was necessary. But the administration kept the debts so far away from the Morgans on the inside that the bankers had difficulty finding out what was going on. They received most of their confidential information from England.

Extreme care was taken so Norman Davis and Treasury Secretary Woodin would not get mixed in the debt question. All the inside negotiations were trusted to Moley. What Moley thinks about the Morgans could not be printed in a family newspaper. The felling is mutual. He would be on the Morgan black list . . . not the preferred list like Davis and Woodin.

The presidential advisers whisper that they see no reason why Davis should not continue disarmament work. The truth is they have no one else of his ability or experience to take his place. For that reason they may let him continue. But a great show will be made of keeping his hands out of debts.

Woodin has not been feeling well lately. He may decide any day now that he needs a rest.

VETERANS

Washington is a hot place but it never saw such heat as the administration turned on in the Veterans fight.

It was done with finesse. There were no public statements or radio appeals. The public hardly knew that a major legislative conflict was going on. The usual pressure tricks were not used. Horse trading was forgotten.

Every Democratic Congressman was put in the glare of an inner floodlight and told to decide now and forever whether he was going to be for this administration or against it.

If your eye had been at the keyhole during the House caucus it would have seen the whole picture.

The Democratic leaders treated their legislators like errant sons. In the secrecy of a party meeting they minced no words. They said they knew the boys might get in bad with the veterans back home, but they could get in worse with their own administration here.

The gray-haired old party men told the youngsters from the north they must go through a primary as well as an election next year. Mr. Roosevelt would not hesitate to support them if they supported him. If they did not it would be a simple matter for the President to write a personal letter to some Democrat in their district recalling this vote.

The young fellows also were reminded the vote would be taken in the open. It would be read, not only by Mr. Roosevelt but also by Mr. Farley. They would probably file it away for future reference. Unquestionably they would consult it from time to time to see who their friends were. Especially if a Congressman was seeking patronage.

This was too much for most of the boys. They wisely decided that self-preservation and party loyalty were one and the same.

That is why you saw so many rabid Veterans men supporting the President.

The strategy was apparently worked out by Vice President Garner. He has been using his new chair for something besides a parking place.

His name never got into the papers but he did most of the talking in the White House councils of war. The Senate side was left to Byrnes and Robinson. Garner took the House. No one knows it better. He puts his arguments on a political plane most Congressmen can understand. The results were entirely satisfactory.

NOTES

The new French propaganda mill is working . . . Evidence of its subtle suggestions have been noticeable in certain dispatches from London and New York on the exchange situation . . . The French statements are so good at planting misinformation in international conferences that all their statements should be read with the tongue in the cheek . . . Mr. Roosevelt's tribute to Congress was fully deserved . . . No session in recent years acted so unselfishly as a whole . . . Until the Veterans fight there was more cooperation than could have been expected . . . The usual belittling of Congress is not in order this year . . . The A. F. of L. legislative agent Edward McGrady did not get the assistant secretaryship of labor because he did not fit into Miss Perkins' picture . . . They put him in the Industrial Control setup instead, after trying to get him to go to London . . . He had been offered the labor job unofficially and had accepted when Miss Perkins stepped in.

BANKS

The sudden passage of the Glass Bill left several New York banks on the spot.

They had been telling their friends they wouldn't stand for it. They would secede from the Federal Reserve System if it went through. They thought the bill was dead until the next session of Congress. Now their bluff is called.

The threats will turn out to be sound and fury signifying nothing. You can bet all the wheat in Kansas that no New York banks will secede. They don't dare. The President has powers under the Bank Act which could cramp their style more than a little if they got too fresh. For instance, he might be able to bar non-member banks from interstate commerce.

The consensus in high banking circles is that flouting the President's wishes would come under the head of monkeying with a buzz saw. So they'll take their indignation out in talk.

Also the private bankers who recently had a taste of the government's power to put them on the pan are exerting a cooling influence. They are advising excitable associates that the best place for their shirts is on their backs.

Most of the bankers' open opposition to the Glass Bill is directed at the deposit insurance provision. There are other features that annoy some of them just as much but they aren't saying so out loud.

They don't like the idea of being told what they can do with their funds. The anti-speculation clause . . . if it works . . . would limit profits. It may not work. There are ways of cutting the corners if you know the ropes.

More important is the provision that all investments will be under much stricter Federal supervision within two years. That would mean a standard of conservative banking in boom times that has never been tried before. It gives the government virtual authority to veto any loan or security purchase at will. The banks would have a much harder time making easy money by helping industry to over-expand.

DEPOSITS

Deposit insurance will probably bring about several unexpected results.

It would bring about further deflation. Banks which are not certain of qualifying for insurance will indulge in another race for liquidity before January first. It will lead to distribution of deposits from New York to the interior. Large industrial corporations which have kept most of their funds in New York for safety will re-distribute them among smaller banks throughout the country to help dealers, etc. One concern with six million dollars cash will probably open several thousand new bank accounts.

Correspondent banks will also tend to take their money home from New York. The New York banks may have trouble making readjustments but the interior banks should certainly be strengthened.

High authorities believe that the insurance plan will be greatly modified before it becomes fully effective. It has a lot of pitfalls which might really be dangerous. But the main idea will be preserved . . . which is to hasten the creation of a unified banking system.

PRIVATE BANKS

Morgan's will probably be the only important private banking house to stick to the deposit business. Kuhn Loeb has pretty well decided to hang onto the investment end. They think they can become the leading investment house in the country with Morgan's out of the way.

Certificates of syndicate participation to large corporations may solve the problem of how to float major issues without deposits.

Other leading private bankers, such as Eastman Dillon, Lehman Brothers, Seligman and Goldman Sachs . . . have a relatively small deposit business, so they won't be sacrificing much by giving it up.

CREDIT

The banks are still contracting credit faster than the Federal Reserve puts it out. Commercial loans have declined nearly $900,000,000 since March first and security loans around $450,000,000. There has been a slight reversal of this tendency in the past month but not enough to matter.

It is worth noting that loans for speculative purposes are holding up better than others.

Reach for a Lucky

—for always
Luckies
Please!

A man's cigarette?
Well—here's why I enjoy Luckies

Somehow, I have always felt that it takes a really fine cigarette to please a man. And since many of the men whose judgment I value smoke Luckies . . . I reach for a Lucky, too. True, I enjoy Luckies' fine tobacco quality and their delicious mildness. But my real reason is perhaps a trifle feminine. Men may not appreciate this as much as a sensitive woman—but I'm particularly grateful to "Toasting" for that comforting assurance of purity. I've talked to many women about this—remember, a cigarette becomes an intimate thing with us, we place it between our lips. And so, perhaps, because I am a woman this is my woman's reason for always saying "Luckies Please!"

Start Contest To Name Queen For Fiesta Del Oro

WINNER GETS FREE TRIP TO CHICAGO FAIR

With a trip to the Chicago Century of Progress in view for the famous Santa Ana American Legion Drum corps, members of the Legion organization today launched a county-wide movement to select a queen to reign over the Fiesta del Oro, Orange county's second annual historical event, to be staged in Santa Ana on July 27, 28 and 29.

The Legion group was designated by the Fiesta officials as the agency to select the queen for the Fiesta in cooperation with merchants. Success of the contest for queen will mean that the Legion Drum corps will go to the World Fair to represent California Legion Drum units.

The girl who is selected to be queen of the Fiesta will receive an all-expense paid trip to the Chicago World's Fair. In addition to this first major prize, a second prize of $50, a third prize of $15, a fourth prize of $10 and other prizes will be awarded. The next nine girls in order of their standing will be made of honor. The queen may take the trip or receive the equivalent in cash.

The most popular girls in the county are expected to be chosen to enter the contest for queen, which is open to any girl, unmarried, between the ages of 15 and 26 years. A nominating ballot for entrance in the contest is printed in an ad in today's Register, which is to be filled in and mailed to Queen Contest headquarters, Armory building. The nominating ballot will count for 500 votes for the entrant, but only one such ballot can be submitted by each nominee.

Merchants will be supplied with official ballots. These ballots will be given on request to all customers making regular purchases. The girl who collects the most votes will be declared queen of the Fiesta.

The contest started officially today and all ballots must be in by 6 p. m., July 26.

Playgrounds Program In S. A. Assured

Summer playgrounds will soon be functioning in Santa Ana following definite action taken last night by the city council to approve the plans of the city recreation commission and pay for the $500 program.

In paying for the summer work, however, the city council will secure the money by changing an arrangement with the board of education, whereby a full rate for water will be charged instead of the half rate which has been in effect for several years. The new billing will take effect July 1 and is expected to add about $900 annually to the city treasury.

A. F. LeGaye, water commissioner, explained that the city was losing money by furnishing water to the schools below cost of production. Since the sentiment of the council on the playgrounds was to the effect that the board of education should bear part of the cost, there was no objection to raising the water rate and using the proceeds for recreation.

The action followed a lengthy discussion between Mrs. Roy Horton, Z. B. Lauderbach and W. W. Wieman of the commission, and the city council. Mrs. Horton, secretary, read and presented a resolution setting forth the need for recreation and also two statements from Frank Henderson, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. W. E. R. Crawford, P.-T. A. president.

The board of education and P.-T. A. expressed their approval of the summer program but declared they were unable to give financial support because of lack of funds. The council also declined to back the venture if the city had to stand the entire expense. Mayor Witmer pointed out that the city is already going to lose $138,000 of its revenues through decreased assessments and saw no place where the playground money could be secured.

Although members of the commission will offer a complete program within a few days, it is believed that a tentative plan outlined recently will be closely followed.

This would provide playgrounds on four city schools, the opening of the high school plunge, and perhaps supervised play in the Municipal Bowl.

The entire $500 will be used to pay salaries for the supervisors and workers, commission members said. B. Z. McKinney, chairman of the commission, is out of town for a few weeks and the other four members of the group, Mrs. Horton, Lauderbach, Wieman, and Thelma Patton, will be in charge of the arrangements for the summer.

START WORK ON BEAUTIFICATION OF CITY BOWL

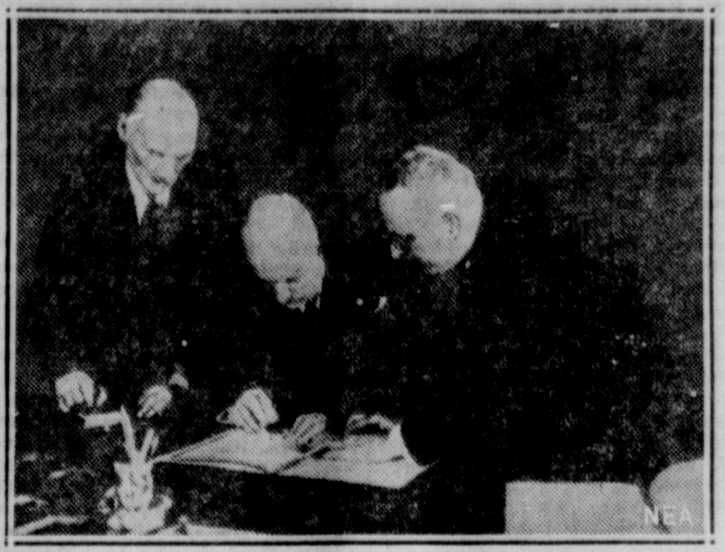

Trees and shrubs to beautify the grounds surrounding the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl were being planted today by men under the R. F. C. work through the efforts of the municipal forestry board.

Over 300 shrubs and many trees will be set out within the next few days on the east, west and south ends of the grounds. Asa Hoffman, chairman of the board, and Gus Allen and Oliver Halsell, his assistants, are directing the planting.

Another crew of men is installing a cement sidewalk on the east side of the bleachers. Spectators have been forced to walk in the street to reach the entrance to the Bowl and the new 12-foot sidewalk will extend the entire block.

MUSSOLINI SIGNING PACT

Weeks of diplomatic negotiations were climaxed with a new hope for European peace when the four-power pact for co-operation and consultation among Italy, Germany, France and Great Britain was signed at Rome. The photo shows Premier Mussolini of Italy signing the document, which, he said, insured at least 10 years of peace for Europe and paves the way for solution of grave world problems.

83 YEAR OLD S. A. MAN TAKES UP BICYCLING

When the bicycle craze hit the younger generation in recent months, most of the old folks approved the idea but preferred to let their youngsters do the pedaling.

No so for one spry old gentleman of Santa Ana who decided he would learn to ride a bicycle, too. It was John Mock of 114 Owens drive, already past his eighty-third milestone, who refused to admit he was too old to learn anything new.

He trundled out his granddaughter's bicycle and started to push the pedals. He fell over but tried again. He took several falls and finally learned the knack of keeping his balance. He enjoyed the experience so much that he rides frequently near his home.

All of which may or may not prove that you can't teach an old dog new tricks or that you're just as young as you feel.

CONDITIONS IN EAST REPORTED MUCH IMPROVED

With factories placing men back to work and with wage increases announced in many places, a definite program of economic recovery from the depression is taking place in mid-western and eastern states, according to Homer Chaney, trust officer at the First National bank who just returned from a tour of many states.

Chaney, a former college economics professor, made the trip with the express purpose of analyzing the economic situation and comparing the situation with that of Orange county and California.

He found that the mid-western states are "six jumps ahead of us in the national economic recovery program." There are no huns on the streets of the many cities and towns he visited, he said, because they are provided for by either states or smaller governmental units. They are fed, housed, clothed and given work.

Factories are starting production with many using full 24-hour shifts, he found, and many communities are "back on their feet" in regard to tax situations and general economic conditions.

Optimism abounded everywhere, Chaney asserted, and even farmers in the middle west are looking forward to a prosperous year this year. Chaney cited increase in wages in many places as a direct point in evidence of returning prosperity.

People are still anticipating coming to California, he said, and few references are made to the earthquake.

Thursday Last Day For Absent Voters

With 89 absent voter ballots already cast for the special election June 27 election, County Clerk J. M. Backs today issued warning that next Thursday is the final date for voting the absentee ballot. Votes received through the mail after that date cannot be counted, he said.

Backs said that basing his opinion on the number of ballots already cast he expects an unusually heavy absentee vote. The fact that the election comes at the height of the vacation season is the responsible factor, he said.

GOOD WHISKEY TO BE SUBJECT AT Y MEETING

"Good Whiskey and What It Is Good For" is the subject announced for a public lecture to be given at 7:30 p. m. next Thursday at the Y. M. C. A. by Dr. Thomas S. Blair.

Dr. Blair is a practicing physician with many years of experience in general practice as well as in public health work. He has had occasion to make careful laboratory studies of all sorts of alcoholic compounds, and has had a wide experience in dealing with alcohol as a medicine and otherwise, it is said.

In the lecture Dr. Blair will present scientific facts based on his own studies and experiences which it is expected will be of great interest to all people, regardless of their individual opinions as to prohibition and the liquor traffic. The Thursday evening event will be open to the general public. It was stated by Secretary R. C. Smedley, and all men and women are invited to attend. Young people will find the material presented to be of exceptional value, Smedley said.

There will be an opportunity for questions and discussion at the conclusion of Dr. Blair's lecture.

GOLD ARROW

GOLD ARROW! It's perfected at last—the money-saving motor fuel—the mellowed, power-mileage gasoline... made exclusively by Western Oil & Refining Company's own multi-refining process: Prolonged Cracking Distillation. By this process, which takes longer to make the gasoline, the "crude" is not rushed through under extreme scorching heat but is made to circulate and re-circulate more than two hours in the cracking stills. Thus, it is super-refined into a gasoline, which, like an arrow, zips in starting, sails with smooth, quiet speed and drives onward with POWER! Gold Arrow is mellowed; it is stabilized—free from the "wild ends" of raw petroleum that cause jumpy motor performance. It has heightened Anti-knock rating but without the sacrifice of extra Power-mileage. Today—treat your car royally to GOLD ARROW Gasoline—yet at no extra cost. It is colored golden amber.

GOLD ARROW MULTI-FEATURES:

- The money-saving gasoline.
- High anti-knock: saves your motor.
- Quick starting: saves fuel and battery waste.
- Extra power-mileage: saves gasoline gallons.

SILVER ARROW, too!

Companion product to the new Gold Arrow is SILVER ARROW Gasoline. It has the same all-round performance of the popular Western Gasoline. It is silvery crystal-white in color. Gold Arrow or Silver Arrow... whichever of Western's great gasolines you buy, you are getting a great value!

"Tune in on KFOX Monday at 7:45 P. M. for Western's 'The Call of California.' Next week 'How Yosemite Got its Name.'"

Prevention Is Better Than Cure

An opiate will dull periodic pain. But isn't it better to prevent the pain? Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets three or four days before the expected discomfort and notice the difference. If you are a stubborn case, you may need to take these tablets regularly for a few months. Persistent use brings permanent relief. Clinical tests prove it.

Girls' Ebell Society Gives Graduation Dance

So successful was the dancing party given Friday evening by members of the Girls' Ebell society as a compliment to graduating seniors of Santa Ana high school, that the hostess group decided unanimously to make a graduation dance an annual affair.

Ebell clubhouse was setting for the semi-formal event, attended by more than 100 young couples. The decorative murals with which Junior Ebell members had adorned the peacock room a short time ago when they gave their dance had been loaned for this important occasion. Added to this background were quantities of palms.

Presiding as hostesses were incoming and outgoing officers of the society. This group included the Misses Ruth Warner, president; Janet Klatt, first vice president; Barbara Dunton, second vice president; Barbara Rowland, secretary; Margaret Munro, treasurer; all retiring officers and Robert Tuthill, president; Marjorie Marble, first vice president; Nancy White, second vice president; Barbara Davis, secretary, and Barbara Lambert, treasurer, new officers.

On the committee in charge of the affair were the six graduates of the society, the Misses Margaret Finley, Marjorie Lindsay, Ruth Warner, Janet Diehl, Barbara Dunton and Ruth Baker.

Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Emrys White, advisor of the group, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Diehl, Mrs. N. D. Pritchett, Mrs. C. V. Davis, Mrs. John Teesmann and Mrs. A. J. Lasby.

Music was provided by Carleton Smith's orchestra. Punch was served throughout the evening, with patronesses presiding at the punch bowl.

Card Party Precedes Guest's Departure For Home

A party given last week by Miss Estelle Schlesinger came as a pleasant compliment to her cousin, Mrs. Walter Thornhill, who concluded a several days visit here Friday evening when she left on the Yale for her home in San Francisco.

In honoring her houseguest, Miss Schlesinger was hostess in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Schlesinger, 417 South Birch street.

Bridge games were introduced as the evening's diversion, Miss Pearce and Miss Kay Pearce winning attractive prizes for scoring high and low.

At the supper hour, a two course menu was served in a floral setting provided by sweet peas.

Those present, in addition to the honoree, Mrs. Thornhill, were the Misses Inez Pearce, Kay Pearce, Louise Poe, Marcene Cook, Kay Maxwell, Madeline Morilla, Hester Martin, Marie Klein, Helen Westering, Ruth Murphy and Mesdames Frances Henry, C. O. Woodfill, L. A. Schlesinger and the hostess, Miss Schlesinger.

Ebell Garden Section Elects New Officers

Garden section members of Ebell society named Mrs. J. T. Paul as leader, and Mrs. Edward Walker, secretary-treasurer, for the new year when they held a luncheon meeting last week in the clubhouse. Election followed the report of the nominating committee, given by its chairman, Mrs. Cood Adams.

This marked the last meeting of the season. Plans were made for a garden party to be held September 21 on the grounds of the home of Mrs. Paul in Tustin.

Luncheon was served at tables brightened with pansies.

Husbands Are Guests Of County Medical Auxiliary

Making their closing meeting of the season a social affair at which husbands were special guests, members of the Auxiliary to the Orange County Medical society entertained last week with an outdoor affair in the grounds of the Dr. Frank Paterson home, 2415 Heliotrope drive.

Lighted with Japanese lanterns and flickering flames from the fireplace, the patio provided an ideal setting for the affair. At the twilight hour, guests were seated at tables lighted with tall red tapers in keeping with the patriotic motif of all other appointments.

During the dinner hour, music was played by the Gonzales Serenaders, Sol Gonzales, violin; Anthony Parga, cello; Richard Duran, guitar, and Steven Rodriguez, the players, dressed in Spanish costumes, added color to the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Newell Moore gave a tumboline dance. A play, "To Quack or Not to Quack" was presented under the direction of Joe Peterson. In the cast were Mr. Peterson, Miss Dorothy Forgy and Irma Huffman May.

The program had been arranged by Mrs. Harry Huffman; table decorations by Mrs. Arthur Robinson; dinner by Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. F. E. Coulter. All other members assisted in the preparation or serving of the dinner.

As guests arrived, they were presented with corsage bouquets or boutonnières. Sixty members and their husbands were in attendance.

Fountain Valley School Group Entertained At Party

Miss Mary Margaret Reed signalled the completion of the year's work at Fountain Valley school where she has been a member of the teaching staff for the past two years, with a delightful party given at the end of the week in her home, 517 South Broadway.

In receiving her guests, Miss Reed was assisted by her mother and two aunts, Mrs. Maggie Mae Reed, Mrs. Ralph Rule and Mrs. Fred Binkley, the latter a recent bride, formerly Mary Bell Diemer. Among the wealth of flowers decorating the home, special admiration was given the many pansies, sent by friendly neighbors aware of the party plans.

Cards were played during the evening and to Miss Anne Bohall, holder of high score, was presented a pretty prize. The serving of a dainty supper course brought the hospitality to a close.

Miss Reed's guests were trustees and teachers of Fountain Valley school and included Mr. and Mrs. Hollis W. Pitt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Geisler, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell, M. R. Harper, the Misses Anne Heald, Blanche Helm, Lona Mae Wilsey, together with Mrs. Maggie Mae Reed, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Binkley and Mrs. Ralph Rule.

Bringing to members of the local B. and P. W. club an insight into the working policies and accomplishments of the national organization of Business and Professional Women's club, Mrs. Ann Leidecker of Los Angeles, program chairman of the national club, was speaker at last night's dinner meeting held at Ketter's.

Possibilities for achieving better working conditions for the business women, as well as other aims are greater for California now that her club has become a part of the powerful national organization, Mrs. Leidecker brought out.

Present with her was Mrs. Nell Passfield, state membership chairman.

Mrs. Leidecker outlined the program for the biennial convention of the national B. and P. W. to be held in Chicago early in July. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Frances Perkins and other women of national position are to be speakers.

Last night's program included vocal solos, "The Second Minute" and "In 1822" given by Miss Laura Joiner, wearing appropriate old-fashioned costume. Mrs. Marie Fowler, president of the club, who was in charge of the meeting, accompanied Miss Joiner at the piano.

Guests attending were Mrs. Eula Weaver, president of the Orange Business and Professional Women's club, and other members of the Orange club.

Luncheon
6 Tbsp creamed chipped beef
Salad: Sliced Tomato, cucumber, lettuce hearts
Mineral oil mayonnaise
Clear tea, no sugar.
Calory value, 275.

Give the family creamed chipped beef with hot bran muffins, the same salad, omitting the mineral oil dressing, some sort of fresh fruit or melon for dessert, iced tea and milk.

Half a pound of chipped beef will serve six: Use a quart of whole milk to make the sauce, thicken with cornstarch and season with a little butter and pepper, but no salt. Pour hot water over the shredded beef and stand five minutes; drain and add to sauce. Just before serving stir in the beaten yolks of 2 eggs.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Cresole Eggs on Toast (for 4)
1 or 2 eggs to each serving
4 large slices buttered toast
4 tomatoes and
1 can tomato hot sauce
1 large green pepper, ground
1 medium onion, ground
Small handful of parsley, minced
1-3 tsp chili powder
Paprika, cayenne and salt to taste
3 tps olive oil or salad oil.

This is a dish we might fittingly describe as versatile: it appears at breakfast and gets a adult welcome from the adult members of the family, it makes a swell main dish for luncheon, and has been known to pinch-hit for dinner without batting an eyelash.

Peel and cut up the tomatoes, green pepper and onion. Fry them gently in the oil about 15 minutes, then add the tomato sauce, parsley and all seasonings. Simmer for 30 minutes. Turn the sauce into a small skillet and poach the eggs in it, rather slowly, with a cover on, so the eggs will cook on top.

Have the toast piping hot, transfer the eggs to the toast, and pour the sauce over them.

This same sauce, seasoned more highly with cayenne and paprika cooked down to a soft paste, forms the filling for the popular Spanish omelette. It is good sauce serve with hamburger or veal cutlets.

The calories in this egg dish average about 340 to the serving. While properly classed as a protein dish, the fat calories put in the energy division. Serve fruit, only, with it for breakfast, salad and fruit for luncheon, salad, green vegetables, no potatoes, and fresh fruit or cantaloupe for dinner. No more bread should be eaten with it at any meal.

An Easy Way to Clean Silver
Use an aluminum kettle large enough to hold all the silver to be cleaned; to each quart of boiling water add 1 tsp. of salt and 1 tsp. of baking soda. Let the silver boil in this solution for 5 minutes, be sure every piece is below the surface. Drain, wash in soap and water, rinse in hot water and dry.

When all the Tynanies were inside the tree trunk home, was Duncy said, "My, what a dandy place you have, and all built in a tree. We've seen no trees as big as this. Gee, it's a sight I wouldn't miss." The Imp replied, "Well, look around and see what there's to see."

"I'm going to start to cook a meal. Think how much better we'll all feel when we have eaten all we can. Then we will snooze a bit."

"I eat and sleep and eat some more. When I'm asleep I always more. When I do that I seem to wake up feeling very fit."

"My goodness that's just what I do," said Duncy. "I can out-snooze you!" "We'll see," replied the little man. "You'll have to snore louder."

He then went to his icebox and exclaimed, "It's full of food that's grand. I guess I'll cook a lot of eggs to feed this hungry crowd."

"Oh," Duncy cried, "this will be fun. I like my eggs not too well done. Say, here's your apron, little Imp, and also your cook's hat."

"Please put them on. I know you'll look just like a high-class hotel cook." The Imp dressed up and then he said, "What do you think of that?"

"It's great," said Goldy. "Now let me help cook. I'm handy as can be." "Hand me the eggs," the Imp replied. "I'll break them in the pan."

"And then, to fry them up real slick. I'll do a funny little trick. At least I'm going to try it, and I'll do the best I can."

One egg began to snap and crack. The Imp then shouted, "Please stand back!" And then he grabbed the flying pan and jerked it in the air.

The egg flipped up and turned around and shortly landed, safe and sound. "I thought you'd drop it," Goldy said. "That gave me quite a scare!"

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

HAPPENINGS OF 1916 REVEALED IN CITY BOOK

ORANGE, June 20.—Revealing many arrests for drunkenness in the days of the saloon, an old book was uncovered recently when the basement of the city hall was remodelled. The book was used when H. A. Farrar was city marshal in 1916. The city was dry at that period while a number of other cities of the county were wet.

Newspaper clippings supplement the official records and are pasted beside them in the book. One clipping tells of a group of intoxicated tourists who shot out the lights around the plaza and were chased as far as San Juan Capistrano before being arrested.

It was May 8, 1916, that the first motorist was cited to appear in the city recorder's court on a speeding charge. This was R. J. Baker, of El Modena, who complained that he felt that he should not be used as an example for speeding. Baker was alleged to have been traveling 30 miles an hour near El Modena and he was fined $10. The judge announced that all violators of traffic laws were to be dealt with regardless of sex, age or color.

Motor traffic seems to have been the chief concern of officers at that time and a sensational case was that of G. Waller, Crown Stage driver, who was charged with driving a jitney bus between Santa Ana and Orange at a speed of 45 miles an hour. For this offense he was fined $7.50.

The late Judge Cox and his methods of dealing with speeders were noted in a number of the clippings. W. F. Crist was fined $2 for cutting a corner as was Edmond McDonald, who violated the same traffic ordinance with his motorcycle.

On January 22, 1917, John Allen, of Handy street, reported to police officers that a Chinaman named Moon Fong had been found burned to a crisp still in his home. This tragedy still is remembered by residents here.

A. H. Westerman, patrolman, reported lately the results of his rounds. Westerman is still on the police force. W. J. Richardson, present city water superintendent, held the same position as he now holds.

In June, 1917, a runaway team knocked down a traffic sign while about the same time Leo Douglas and his mother, Mrs. B. R. Douglas, riding in a horse drawn buggy, narrowly escaped death when they crossed the Santa Fe tracks

MESA TAX GROUP NAMES COMMITTEE

COSTA MESA, June 20.—Assemblyman James B. Utt and L. A. George Waterman, president of the league introduced the speakers and led the discussions. Utt spoke on the various amendments that are to be voted on at the June 27 election. Bortz talked about the present tax situation as it affects both county and state.

Following the addresses and discussions, a committee of three, Fred Finch, W. W. Middleton and Robert Martin, was appointed to investigate the equalization of the land taxes in this district and report at the next meeting of the league.

The next regular meeting will be held on July 7 in the usual place.

175 PUPILS ARE ENROLLED AS CHURCHES OPEN DAILY VACATION BIBLE CLASSES

ORANGE, June 20.—The Daily Vacation Bible school, which opened yesterday, had an attendance of 175 pupils in the four departments established. Miss Edith Culter is the general superintendent. Elaborate plans are under way for programs and great interest is being manifested by the pupils, Miss Culter states.

The school hours are from 9 to 11:30 a. m. Attendance is expected to be increased before the end of the week. Mrs. Cal J. Lester is in charge of the Intermediate department, which is at the First Christian church, with 64 pupils enrolled in her classes. The department has been divided into two sides for a contest for points involving attendance, new members and other features. One side is headed by Ben Hager, with Cary Nichols as president and Bobbie Burns as secretary and the other by Miss Cary Harper with Betty Jordan as president and Melba Estes as secretary. All students are working on scrap books on India.

Other speakers this week are to be Miss Flo Scarritt, who will speak tomorrow, the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, who will talk Thursday, and Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, who will speak Friday.

Mrs. Wilbur Woods has charge of the primary department in the First Presbyterian church and 54 enrolled there yesterday. Assistants are Miss Betty Stork, Miss Frances Dews and Mrs. Dorothy Ferrin. Bible stories are to be stressed in this department with co-operation, loyalty, fair-play and generosity as desirable traits of character, given special attention.

In the Junior department, 38 pupils answered roll call with Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake at the head of the department and assisting her are Robert Neece, Mrs. Naomi Wolfe and B. J. Fletcher. Interesting plans for the course of study are under way for the group.

Scrap books are being made which are to be given to children in hospitals and a walk is a feature of each morning's program. Assisting Mrs. Smith are Miss Florence Campbell and Miss Clara Franier.

REV. MINCK TO CONTINUE WITH ORANGE CHURCH

ORANGE, June 20.—Following action by the board of the First Christian church last night the Rev. Franklin Minck decided to request the Whittier Christian church not to issue an official board call.

The pastor presented the fact that he had received a unanimous request from the Whittier church to permit its board to issue a call on their behalf. The other congregation has about 750 members and is a splendid opportunity in many ways for the man going there, it was said.

The Orange board unanimously passed the following: "It is our unanimous request that Mr. Minck shall not accept the proposed call, but that he shall continue as our pastor for an indefinite period of time."

The reasons given were largely in terms of the rapid growth that has been going on in the local church. Two hundred and sixty new members have been received in the last two years. The board felt that the pastor should remain until the work is more solidly established on the larger plane.

The board voted to co-operate in having the Taylor brothers as evangelists in a union meeting during August if as many as four of the five congregations co-operate in the meeting. A final decision on this matter will be made at a called meeting of the ministers Thursday.

Week-end MURDER by GABRIELLE E. FORBUSH

BEGIN HERE TODAY

AMOS PEABODY, elderly cousin of LINDA AVERILL, falls to his death from the second-floor balcony of the Averilla Long island home. Linda reaches him just before he dies, in time to hear him gasp, "He pushed me—!"

There are four guests in the house and all become suspects of the murder. All are strong physically, have violent tempers and all have quarreled with Cousin Amos. The four are: MR. STALLANDER, middle western manager of the firm TOM AVERILL works for; MARVIN PRATT, former suitor of Linda; CAPTAIN DE VOS, handsome Belgian representing a European perfume manufacturer; and LIA SHAGHNESSY, Irish writer and lecturer.

Linda, realizing her cousin had tried to tell her he was murdered, rushes up the stairs to the balcony. Someone steps behind her, tries to strangle her and she falls in a faint. She regains consciousness several hours later. It has been assumed Cousin Amos' death was accidental and Linda has no opportunity to tell Tom what really happened.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

It was almost half-past 10 by her little clock when Linda's listening ears heard the welcome spin of gravel under the wheels of a returning car and she opened her eyes to see her mother-in-law tip-toeing out of the room.

"That's Tom!" they both exclaimed, and the older woman laughed a little.

"You needn't worry, Linda," she said. "He'll be up here as soon as he can fly, and I'll go downstairs to see if your guests need any help in their final preparations."

When Tom appeared, as promptly as his mother foretold, his wife was sitting up, bright-eyed and looking astonishingly untouched by the recent disaster.

"Now, Linda—what's on your mind?"

Her eager desire for speech did not prevent a flash of gratitude for his direct approach to the subject. No pretense that he'd forgotten it, no argument as to whether she were able to talk.

"Sit down, Tom," she said, and knew as he heard her own voice that the interval, frantically as she had resented it, had strengthened and steadied her. Yet Tom, as he obeyed with more worried perplexity that he permitted himself to show, thought he had never seen Linda look so serious, and as he took the hand she extended he experienced a quick inward shock. It was icy cold and, for all her outward control, decidedly tremulous.

Then she began to talk, quietly, without any sign of weakness or hysteria, as he listened, incredulously but believing. Such things couldn't happen but, if Binks said so, they had! She told of the door that was ajar; of the voices, so indistinct that she had thought one of them his; of her quiet approach and withdrawal, unheard, of her surprise when, downstairs, she saw him in the water; of her pause on the terrace; the scuffle overhead; the sudden hurrying down of Cousin Amos' body and the scant five words which he had strength to gasp. Words which had sent her flying up the steps to identify his assailant—

Averill broke in with an exclamation of horror.

"Linda—alone! Why you might—you might have been killed!"

"I nearly was."

"What's that?"

"I nearly was killed. You—you didn't know it, Tom, but when you thought I waved—well, your being on the raft there, facing the house, saved my life, I guess."

He heard her out grimly. Heard of the silent approach of the man behind her—the man whom she had trapped there and who, fearing detection, tried to silence her forever. Heard why she had involuntarily clutched at the air—a gesture so easily translated into a light-hearted wave! And as she finished with her vague memory that the choking pressure gave, just as she toppled into unconsciousness, he swore briefly, shortly, with the concentrated anguish of futile rage.

"So—what do you think of that?" she concluded, trying to relieve his evident tension by speaking lightly. Face set grimly, eyes burning into hers, he sat there a moment immobile. His look made her realize suddenly, as an outsider would realize, what she had been through, what she had so narrowly missed.

"I think it's murder and attempted murder!" he answered slowly. "Good God—what might have happened—and I wasn't there! Suddenly he engulfed her with tense, protective, angry tenderness.

"Ouch—my neck!" she exclaimed. She wriggled tentatively, then more violently. "But it's only a little stiff now. Let me get my breath. There! Why—where are you going?"

"To call the police."

"Oh Tom—wait! That's exactly what I thought you'd say and exactly what you mustn't do, just now, anyhow. You don't know anything—whom would you accuse?"

His eyes rested on her speculatively.

"So anxious to save him?"

"Tom—what do you mean?"

"You don't sound as though you wanted to catch your cousin's murderer as much now as you did when you ran upstairs." His voice was distant, cold.

"I want to catch him more than ever," she said vehemently. "But I know that we must decide together, first, what to say."

"That is simple enough. We can say I found Mr. Pratt bending over you."

She caught her breath at the suggestion.

"Tom—Tom—how can you—"

"How can I what?"

"Think Marvin—"

"How can I help it?" His hands clenched. "Linda—do you want to drive me crazy? I'm trying to hold myself in. It's for your sake I'm going to report it that way instead of—throttling him—choking the life out of him—"

"Tom!" She was beside him with one quick movement. "Tom, dear—I forgot that. Of course you think—but wait a minute, honey! Sit down here—"

He allowed her to draw him down on the side of the chaise longue but his face was tense and his eyes brooded darkly, not meeting hers. She plunged quickly ahead.

"Dear—there are four men in this house—and four men who may have done it. In fact, you said you saw Mr. Shaughnessy just about the same time and the other two were up, weren't they, by the time you got to the room? How can you be sure which one it was? They'd all had trouble with Cousin Amos. You remember we joked about the potential murderers? Marvin is one of them. He may be the one, that's true—but—"

Her words reached him but they started another train of thought.

"Four of them—and any one of them might—Linda, those men don't wait for the noon train. They get out of here as quickly as they can pack. I'll stand over every last one—I'll tell them it's that or—arrest."

"But, Tom, you were convinced it was an accident. Wasn't everybody?"

"Yes, of course, Binks. How could it seem anything else?"

"That's it exactly. Murder—murder simply doesn't occur to anyone in—well, in our type of home. And anyhow it had every appearance of an accident. You went all over the ground, didn't you?"

"Sure—with Parsons. Into the bedroom, out on the balcony."

"And neither of you saw anything?"

"What was there to see? An empty bed—an open door—a torn railing—"

"And the body of an old man who fell over, headfirst, hit the stones below and was killed. Was the doctor even surprised that the fall killed him?"

"N—no. Of course it was only one story but the old-fashioned balcony is quite high and he did go headfirst. His head was—well, badly crushed."

"Then? He didn't suspect?"

"No—no, he didn't."

"Did you see—any clue?"

"What do you mean? Oh, traces of the man? No, nothing."

"And what would there be to see? It's only in books that a murderer leaves a cigaret case or a long blond hair, or something of the sort. If a man walks into a room at 6 a. m. or thereabouts when everyone in the house is sleeping, throws an old man over the rail and goes back to his room, what earthly trace could anyone ever find—unless—"

"Unless what, Binks? The police can at least question them."

"The police! The police of this village!" She paused to give his own imagination time to work. "In the first place could we even convince the police? What possible proof could we give? It happened so early—there were no witnesses. All the men were in their rooms—or could say they were. I thought I was choked—but I fell unconscious and might simply have fainted. You were swimming in, with your eyes full of water, and you thought you saw a man. And think of those particular four men—can you imagine one of them bearing the idea of being accused of murder patiently? Nobody—nobody from outside—could possibly find out a thing from them."

"In fact," agreed Tom slowly, "they—the police—would just laugh at the suggestion of murder and if they did investigate in their usual dumb way they'd be licked before they started."

"And then, Tom, it would be ended! The men would all go as quickly as they could and we would never know."

He snuffed a little wryly and patted her hand.

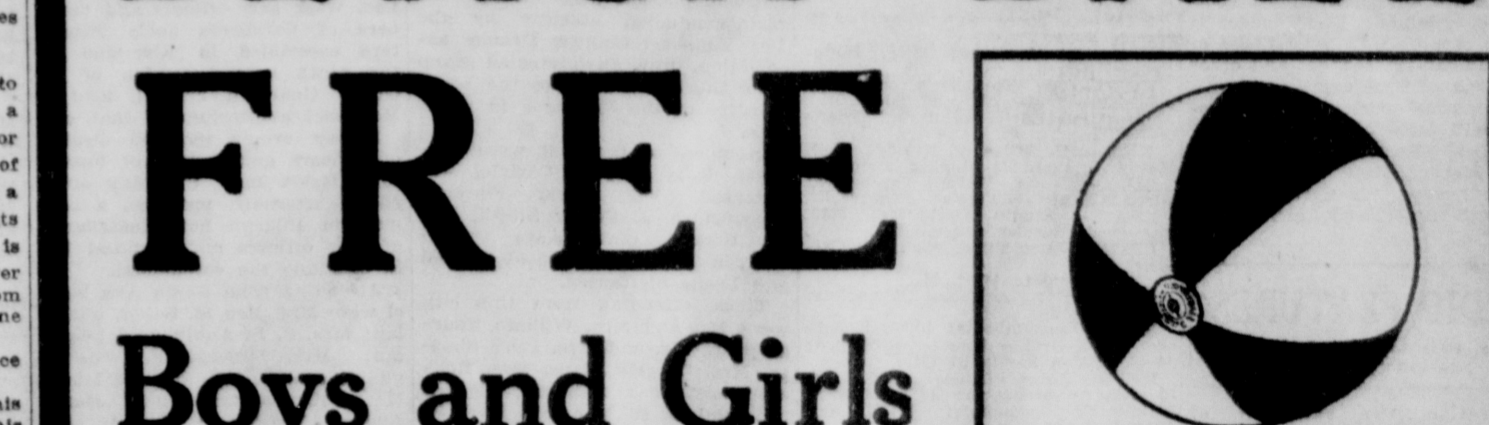

"Well, Binks, what's up your sleeve?"

"A plan that I know will work. Remember they have no idea—the murderer has no idea—that I know it was murder. That's our great advantage. I came hurrying into the room and caught him there. He hid and choked me, but you've all taken for granted that I think the same thing? So, as it stands now, there's been an accident. I've come to after a prolonged fainting spell brought on by shock. I don't remember anything but a choking sensation before 'everything went black.' Isn't that the proper expression?"

"So you and I are free to act and the first thing we must do is to make those men stay here. They must finish out the week-end just as we planned it, or as nearly as possible."

PROPOSITION NUMBER SIX

Proposition number six authorizes $55,000,000 State bonds to refinance irrigation and reclamation districts, by purchasing and canceling their outstanding bonds, when recommended by a California Districts Securities Commission.

The provisions of this amendment, operating under the District Finance Act, amount to the use of State credit for the rehabilitation of irrigation and reclamation projects. This proposed assistance by the state singles out a special class for the favor of assistance by all the people.

Probably many people who would be called upon to bear additional burdens under this provision for assistance to bond-holders of irrigation and reclamation projects are as much, if not more, in need of assistance than those who would be helped by this measure. At the present time many of the bonds of these projects are being held by speculators and investors; and not by the people who originally owned the property.

For that reason, the speculator would stand to profit. A lot of farmers, who originally bonded themselves to improve farms, have already lost their farms, because they could not meet their interest and taxes. These people would not be helped by this measure. Those who would receive aid would be the speculators in investments, and not the toiler who many months ago was forced to forfeit his right in the property to the mortgagee.

Proposition number six establishes a precedent in State financial aid. By the same reasoning that the irrigation and reclamation would be re-financed by the State and backed by the credit of the state, all of the school, road, toll bridge and other districts would be entitled to the same consideration if the burdens became great in such districts.

It seems unwise to increase in any way the burdens of all the people when all the people would not be beneficiaries.

PROPOSITION NUMBER FIVE

Proposition number five is a specific measure applying only to Orange and Los Angeles counties and providing for a special instance.

It provides for a re-assessment of property in those two counties on the first Monday in July, so as to save the people from the necessity of paying taxes on property values which were destroyed by the earthquake. Property values were assessed on the sixth of March. On the tenth, the earthquake wiped out considerable property.

The proposed legislation is fair since it would exempt from taxation those people whose property was destroyed by the earthquake, if they have been unable to rebuild it. Taxpayers in such a situation cannot receive the benefits of government according to the property which no longer exists. Those people who have been able to rebuild and even improve their property will pay taxes on the property according to its value of July 3.

The arguments against the measure are largely theory, which will carry little weight with people in these two counties, who are close enough to the situation to be moved by equity and justice. At the time of the San Francisco earthquake, the assessor of that district took into consideration the value of property after it had been damaged, although he had no legal right so to do. Subsequently, the Board of Equalization authorized his acts, so they were legalized. The proposed measure, number five, legalizes action similar to that taken in San Francisco without authority, though later authorized.

GIN CHOW JOINS HIS FATHERS

Gin Chow fulfilled his own last prediction. Struck by a truck in Santa Barbara not many hours past, he said that his time had come. Doctors said that his condition was serious, but not critical, and that he should recover. But Gin Chow said his time had come.

Last August, when he was attacked by a bull, he refused to go to the hospital because he said that his time had not yet come. He was faithful to his signs and gave up when he read them as death. Few men seventy-five could withstand an attack by a bull and being run down by a truck in one year.

Gin Chow was a picturesque figure catapulted into the limelight some time ago, when his weather predictions proved amazingly accurate. In the past his prognostications were presented in an almanac. Quaint philosophy was included in the book with the weather predictions and delighted many hundreds of people, who are not particularly impressed with the weather predictions.

Now he has gone to join his fathers. May he rest in peace.

LOAN FOR AUSTRIA

Great Britain, France and Italy have joined together in a $40,000,000 loan to Austria. Undoubtedly it was the loan which strengthened the Austrian government sufficiently to outlaw the Nazis. An impoverished people are an easy prey to doctrine such as the Nazis expound. Suffering people are relieved to have a "goat," and they are pitifully trustful of promises.

Austria with $40,000,000 has the most powerful weapon of defense against the Nazis. Whether the money will prove sufficient is a question. There are few predictions of the duration of the Nazi power in Germany. Whether Austria can hold out against them depends on how long it will be menaced. It seems evident that Mussolini will not stand to have Nazis close to Italy's borders and therefore will be relieved to help Austria withstand the Nazi advance.

COLLEGE GRADUATE PERFORMS FOOLISH STUNT

The comments are not at all nice, which are being made about the antics of a graduate of the University of Chicago who skipped rope 20,010 consecutive times, then suffered a nervous collapse, and, upon his recovery, got married. Says one critic: "We live in uncertain times, to be sure, and a great many university graduates, being unemployed, doubtless have to look for odd and unusual jobs. But one is still impelled to wonder just what a supposedly educated man, a man with a diploma from one of America's greatest universities, is doing skipping the rope 20,000 times in a row."

Most of us do strange things now and then, impulsively. The important fact to discover, before one comments on this, is whether the foolish things that college graduates do, are more foolish or less foolish than the silly things people who are not college graduates do. That is the question.

The really intriguing puzzle about the case, however, is that the college graduate, after jumping rope for twenty thousand times, had a nervous breakdown. A heart attack, a physical breakdown is to be expected, but that the college graduate should be mentally under such a strain by skipping rope, that he had a nervous breakdown, is a bit out of character.

We do not believe it is too much to hope that the companion whom he has chosen for his life-partner will be able to restrain him from entering upon more foolish stunts, and direct his energies into more useful enterprises.

FORTUNATE INVESTOR PASSES AWAY

Horace H. Rackham, who recently died in Detroit at the age of seventy-three, was one of the people who "got in on the ground floor" with Henry Ford. Small investors are always dreaming of "getting in on the ground floor." It is the adventurers' bonanza. It is the lure which has made easy the despoilation of thousands. Rackham invested five thousand dollars in 1903. In 1919 he sold out for $12,500,000.

The optimistic investor never forgets an instance like that. People who have lived in fortunate citizen rise from poverty to wealth by a small investment in something that made money, "a lucky strike" as it were, are willing victims of salesmen, who have only to retell the story which is already familiar, for them to part with their money in the belief that they can enter fairyland too.

How Many Nations?

New York Times

Sixty-six nations are to meet in the London Economic Conference. When President Roosevelt issued his disarmament appeal on May 16 he addressed it to fifty-four nations, and apparently there was little he overlooked. Where are the extra dozen governments to come from?

Six additional nations are immediately in hand. They are the British Dominions. Mr. Roosevelt on May 16 sent only one cablegram to King George, but through the King he was talking not only to Great Britain but to Australia, Canada, India, the Irish Free State, New Zealand and South Africa. They are members in their own right of the League of Nations. That makes fifty-four nations plus six or sixty nations at London.

A few nations Mr. Roosevelt did pass over in his disarmament appeal. They are Afghanistan, Arabia (our old friend Ibn Saud), Danish Free State and Liberia—though it is a member of the League of Nations. That makes sixty-four in all. The sixty-fifth nation is the United States, since Mr. Roosevelt would not be writing appeals to himself.

Which will be the sixty-sixth nation at the London conference? It would have to be one out of the group of miniature states—Andorra, San Marino, Liechtenstein, Monaco, the Vatican. In the Himalaya hills is the nominally independent kingdom of Nepal. That exhausts the world's club membership.

The Shoeless South

San Francisco Chronicle

With their program of national and international issues ready-made for them, Southern Senators have been able to devote their heavy thinking to the question whether their constituents wear shoes or go barefoot.

Fortunately it was a member of their own party that first raised this question. So there can be no suspicion that it arose from such a political card as was spread to destroy the career of Sockless Jerry Simpson whose enemies circulated reports in Kansas that he did wear socks in Congress.

The issue of the Shoeless South arose from a remark by Labor Secretary Perkins that "a social revolution will result if you put shoes on the people of the South."

Senator Russell of Georgia seized this opportunity for his maiden speech and arose to deny that his constituents shamelessly wiggle their toes in the mud. He was supported by assurance from Shoes of North Carolina that even the mules wear shoes in Dixie.

But Carter Glass of Virginia, perhaps seeing political dynamite in the background, dissented. In his day, he declared, any boy who wore shoes was a sissy. Thus Virginia goes on record for a barefoot Democracy. The Republicans by silent assent seem willing to leave the issue up to their majority contemporaries.

It Is Our War

The San Diego Union

A period as dramatic as any war-time in the nation's history, is looming just ahead of us. All that has taken place hitherto, amounts merely to a debate as to objectives, a declaration of war and an organization of the forces. The campaign is just beginning. Its outcome is a momentous thing. It is for us to remember that now, as in any other war, our role is more than that of the spectator. It is our war. It is our country which has been invaded. We and ours have been oppressed. This is our fight against an enemy more insidious than any foreign army.

Absolute good faith is the weapon that will serve our cause in this war, and we alone can wield that weapon.

More Truth Than Poetry

WHY WORRY?

I do not envy men who earn
More cash than they can spend or burn—
Who've set their souls
On golden goals
With ardor fierce and zealous.
I keep myself in ignorance
Of all the ways of high finance.
And so I know
I'll never grow
Uncomfortably jealous.

If I believed I had the trick
By which some people get rich quick,
I know I'd dream
And plan and scheme
And lose my daily collar
And lose my placid peace of mind
While working out some means to find
Each passing day
A surer way
To make another dollar.

But since I know I lack the art
Of cornering the money mart,
And must depend
Till life shall end
Upon my daily labors
I shall not even heave a sigh
When told how riches multiply
And do their stuff
In quantum suff.
For my more gifted neighbors.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

A NOTE OF LOYALTY

When times of stress and storm strike a people, there is always an awakening of propaganda for loyalty.

It might be thought that a time of widespread futility would awaken propaganda for critical restudy of the structure and processes of politics, economics, education and the other major enterprises of the period that fell into disarray.

The baffling paradox is that when such restudy is most needed it is most frowned upon.

This is, I suppose, an instinctive assertion of the impulse to self-preservation, even if it expresses itself blindly and blunderingly.

We do need loyalty to an unprecedented degree when the battalions of storm are in the sky.

But loyalty to what?

It is hardly adequate to say we need loyalty to our institutions and to our authorities.

Institutions may be obsolete or at least lagging behind the changing facts of the society they were designed to serve.

Authorities may be blind to the need of the time.

At least it is clear to what we do not want to pay loyalty.

We do not want loyalty to muddled thinking.

We do not want loyalty to superstitions.

We do not want loyalty to error.

We do not want loyalty to the closed mind.

We do not want loyalty to leadership that are complacent about a social order harboring inequities and inequities that are obviously preventable.

We do not want loyalty to those who refuse to adapt the forms and functions of our common life to the new demands of the new civilization.

We want loyalty, above all, to a flexible and courageous intelligence.

But the average bit of anti-secession legislation does not set out to safeguard this kind of loyalty so much as so squelch it.

AGAINST THE GRAIN

"What are you doing, Hal?"

"Making a boat."

"You don't want to make a boat. What could you do with a boat?"

"O, I just thought I'd like to make one. Maybe I could use it. Maybe I'll be going to Grandpa's this summer. Maybe I could sell it if I didn't use it myself."

"Don't be silly. That is a waste of good material. Make a table. You can always use a table."

"What do I want a table for? I'd rather have a boat. I don't want to make a table anyway. I like boats."

"Never mind. You make a table and never mind the boat. The teacher will give you the same credit and I'm sure he will think you are more sensible for doing something useful."

So Hal made a table for his home project. He wasn't careful about planing so the surface was not what it might have been. He was careless about the seams on the top and they showed openly. The joints were poorly made and the legs wobbled unevenly.

"Not much of a job, my boy. Why did you make it if you didn't want to? I told you to make anything you liked. It's plain as the nose on your face that you didn't like this table."

It won't do to force anybody to follow a plan not his own. A mind divided against itself is wrecked as far as the idea under discussion goes. The whole mind must endorse a plan, must go cheerfully and heartily along with it or the plan falls through.

"How are you going to save children from making mistakes if you don't interfere with them?" somebody rises to ask.

You can't keep them from making mistakes if you tried forever. One of the most serious mistakes you can make though is to put your scheme in place of theirs without obtaining their wholehearted consent.

Many people in authority make this mistake. They feel the responsibility keenly. Those under their charge must make no mistakes. How far in the scheme of life will one intelligence reach? Isn't it rather presumptuous of even the best minds to feel that it is best to make their ideas the only ideas in circulation? It might be that the idea of another worker, feeble though it be in comparison with that of the superior mind, might now and then fill a gap in the line of defense against ignorance. It has happened that a man following his own scheme has succeeded in doing better work than when he followed the scheme of his superior officer. "A poor thing, my lord, but mine own."

I am not saying that children must have their own way. I am saying, though, that before one says they may not have their own way that one ought to consider well the reason for saying so. Unless the child is in danger of making a costly error let him alone to work out his own salvation. If he is going the long way round he is more than likely to find it out for himself very soon and look for a shortcut.

If everybody had allowed his superior to decide what it were best for him to do there would be few airplanes today.
